

Cities Fear Another Summer of Bloody Racial Rioting

By HAL COOPER
NEW YORK (AP)—Will summer 1967, bring another round of rioting in major American cities?
Many municipal officials and leaders of community groups believe that it will, a survey of key cities showed yesterday. Others take a less alarmist view. But all agree that the recipe for cooling potential trouble spots must include better jobs and expanded recreational facilities for nonwhites.
Almost everywhere, police departments are preparing to deal with summer violence, and most of them are complaining that there is a shortage of uniformed manpower.
One of the most apprehensive city officials is Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit. If there should be a serious inter-racial incident "the city could explode," he says.

In Cleveland, scene of a major riot last summer, Police Chief Richard Wagner says, "The chance of rioting this summer is equally as great, or greater, than in 1966."
J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI has complained that civil rights leaders who predict racial disturbances are in effect telling troublemakers "they are expected to riot."

"It is more like an open invitation to hotheads and rabble-rousers in these areas to move into action on cue," said Hoover in the June issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.
"Where are the reason and judgment in this type of leadership?" Hoover named no names, but he apparently referred to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who has said violence could break out in several major cities, and Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, who has pinpointed Washington as a danger spot.
Carmichael, black power's leading advocate, remarked recently that "68 per cent of the population in Washington is black, and Washington will be ours, lock, stock and barrel, by any means necessary."

"All the ingredients for racial violence and rioting are prevalent throughout the West Coast," says Leonard Carter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

THE NATION

Riots broke out in Boston and in Clearwater, Fla., over the weekend. Nine are injured in the Boston riots, which were in their third straight day last night, Page A-2. Officials in the nation's major cities are concerned over the possibility of riots bloodier than experienced last year, Page One.

THE WORLD

Two British air crashes have claimed the lives of 160 persons. Both crashes were of Argonaut aircraft, which has prompted a national inquiry into the safety of that type of plane. Both planes were within sight of their destinations, Page One.

The Vietnam war continued at the Southeast Asian front and in the nation's capital. At the front, Marines claimed a top-sided victory on the ground while American planes downed two more MIGs and bombed rail links north of Hanoi. In Washington, the Senate armed services preparedness subcommittee said the Pentagon has wasted tax dollars on new types of rifles, which are changing faster than they can be paid for, Page A-6.

In weekend auto racing, Fred Knapp won the late model feature at Stateline on Saturday night and Skip Furlow took honors in the sportsman class. At Eriez last night, Lyle Brown posted a triumph in the stocks and John Whitehead was the late model victor, Page A-7.

Dave Hill hung on to win the Memphis Open Golf Tournament in the final round held yesterday. Johnny Pott staged a late charge to take runner-up money, Page A-7.

This was the scene last night at the Warren Area High School as the senior class of 1967, and their parents attended the Baccalaureate services held at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. The Rev. Franklin G. Hagberg, Protestant chaplain at the Warren State Hospital, was the featured speaker. "Go out and live, get involved, Put aside your own selfish desires, and find out what you can do for your fellow man," was the message delivered by The Rev. Mr. Hagberg. This year's senior class will be graduated Thursday, in commencement exercises to be held at the Warren Area High School. (Photos by Knight)

Baccalaureate Rites Held at County Schools

High School seniors throughout Warren County attended baccalaureate services yesterday at the five county high schools.

The Rev. Franklin G. Hagberg, speaker at Warren's baccalaureate services last night, expressed condolences to the family of James Beichner, Warren Area High School athlete who drowned in the Allegheny Reservoir yesterday. His classmates, shocked by his death, were quiet and subdued during the services.

The final week of school for the seniors caps a busy year-end schedule. Senior class picnics are scheduled for this year, coming on Tuesday for Warren and Youngsville, Eisenhower High's picnic is set for today.

VICTIM IS JAMES BEICHNER

Warren High Athlete Drowns in Reservoir

Sixteen-year-old James Nelson Beichner, Warren Area High School's most outstanding all-around athlete, drowned in the Allegheny Reservoir yesterday afternoon while swimming with seven companions.

The Warren High junior was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Beichner of 13 S. State st. North Warren.

State police said Beichner was swimming in the Kinzua Creek arm of the lake with seven other youths at the time of his death. Trooper Martin L. Kloock Jr., the investigating officer, said in a report that Beichner was about 65 yards from shore, swimming with Michael Hackett, 16, of 309 E. Fifth st., when Beichner had trouble. The nature of his difficulty was never determined.

Hackett told police he tried to save Beichner, but could not hold him up.

With the pair were Raymond Lowe, 17; Craig White, 17; William Shaffer, 17; Daniel O'Neill, 17; Edward O'Neill, 15; and David Cobb, 15.

Clarendon's fire department and rescue service and Warren Rescue searched for the body for two hours. The mishap occurred at 2:20 p.m. Beich-ner's body was recovered by scuba divers at 5:10 p.m. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Ross Bryan, county coroner, one hour later at Warren General Hospital.

It was the first area drowning in the Allegheny Reservoir. This is its first season of general use.

James Nelson Beichner was born Jan. 2, 1951, in Erie. He had been a resident of this area nearly all of his life.

At Warren High, he was an

He was a letterman in football, having played regular end on this year's squad. He was on the varsity basketball squad this school year. He played in Hot Stove League baseball.

He was a member of the North Warren Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services will be held from the North Warren Presbyterian Church on Thursday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Nelson Beck of his church officiating. The Rev. Franklin G. Hagberg will assist.

Burial will be in the Warren County Memorial Park at Starbrick.

FIREMEN BUSY

3 Departments Answer Calls

A home containing several thousands of dollars worth of antiques burned to the ground yesterday in Glade Township in one of three fires over the weekend.

The home, owned by Perry Cassell, was at 132 Shipman's Eddy, Glade Township firemen fought the blaze for nearly three hours after answering the alarm at 7:45 a.m.

The cause of the fire is still undetermined. Glade firemen said it possibly could have been started by gasoline fumes when Cassell was filling the gas tank of a power mower.

Firemen again were called to the scene at noon when smoke was sighted in the ruins. They were called out a third time at 5:30 p.m. on another report of smoke. Total damage estimates were not available last night.

In Akeley, volunteer firemen from Russell fought a blaze at the Lawson Pallet Co. yesterday afternoon. The fire burned an undetermined amount of lumber and sawdust chips. Firemen fought the blaze for nearly three hours, beginning at 3:30 p.m., using two trucks. Damage was not determined. The company is owned by Kenneth Lawson, 113 Main st., North Warren.

Sugar Grove firemen answered an alarm yesterday at 4 p.m. to quell a grass fire which burned an acre on Trask road three miles east of Sugar Grove. Sugar Grove firemen were called out Friday night to extinguish a blaze in an auto owned by Mrs. Ruth Grant, Forest avenue, Sugar Grove. Damage in that fire was confined to the motor and wiring.

Area forest fire watchers reported a quiet weekend in the woods. No fires were sighted, although hundreds of picnickers and hikers took to the hills for a respite from the 85-degree temperatures.

160 Dead in 2 British Crashes

STOCKPORT, England (AP)—Two plane crashes within 12 hours left a death toll of 160 Britons yesterday and brought urgent demands for stricter safety standards on cheap charter flights.

The two crashes made it the blackest weekend in British aviation history. First, a DC4 bound for Perpignan, France, hit the foothills of the Pyrenees and killed all 88 aboard Saturday night. Then, yesterday

Race Riots Feared

"Watts hasn't changed much since 1965," comments Robert Hall, spokesman for the Nonviolent Action Committee in Los Angeles. "The mood is about the same. They've got this wait-and-see attitude."

"Law and order will prevail," says Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago. "There will be no demonstrations that close off traffic and interfere with people's rights."

"I'm optimistic," says Johnny Robinson, Atlanta, Ga., city coordinator.

Mayor John V. Lindsay reported that the assessments of officials concerned with keeping order in New York City range from optimism to "pes-imism bordering on alarm." He named a task force of 22 from a dozen city agencies to coordinate programs aimed at "keeping New York's summer a cool one."

An additional 1,000 policemen and policewomen are to be stationed at New York beaches, parks and other areas where racial mingling has led to violence in the past.

For some cities, trouble began in May. There were riots at Negro college campuses in Nashville, Tenn., Jackson, Miss., and Houston, Tex. A Houston policeman was shot and killed.

On May 21, racial unrest in Chicago, San Diego, Calif., San Francisco and Vallejo, Calif., resulted in the arrest of more than 70 persons. Boston had riots in early June.

Mayor Cavanagh said that in Detroit "potentials for trouble are greater this year than any since I took office in 1961." The city is pressing for increased federal aid for projects such as a police cadet program for youths in the 17 to 21 age bracket.

The Rev. Albert B. Cleague Jr., head of Detroit's Intercity Organizing Committee, was more optimistic than Cavanagh but conceded: "There can always be trouble. We have high unemployment. People seem to be jittery about a lot of things."

Chicago, with nearly 900,000 Negroes in a population of 3.6 million, was the scene of rioting last year when whites resisted a number of Negro marching demonstrations in the rental or sale of houses.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who led the demonstrations, has promised that the campaign will be renewed unless swifter progress toward open housing is forthcoming.

"We're deeply concerned," said Edward McClellan, executive secretary of the Chicago chapter of the NAACP, when asked about the possibility of racial unrest. He said the situation might cool off if the Illinois Legislature should pass an open-housing bill.

Cleveland, whose Hough district was the scene of bloody and costly rioting last year, is pinning much of its hopes for peace this year on the leadership of Negro clergymen.

King has begun in Cleveland what he calls "Operation Breadbasket" including organized Negro political activity and the founding of a Negro bank which will make housing mortgage loans.

James Fisk, deputy chief and head of the Los Angeles Police Department's Community Relations Division, said that in the wake of the Watts rioting, "We find the vast majority of persons on both sides are looking for a way to have a constructive relationship."

"Police relations with the community are better now," said Fisk. "We've opened some lines of communication. We're talking to people we never talked to before."

However, Jesse Scott, Los Angeles field director of the NAACP, complained that "nothing has been done of a really significant nature" in Watts. "There's no relief of tension as far as jobs are concerned," he said.

Newark, N.J., where more than half the population is Negro, plans a summer employment and job-training program for 2,000. "We're in good shape, we're optimistic," said Police Chief Oliver Kelly. "The people want a peaceful community. There's always the possibility of an incident, of course. Nobody's perfect."

Atlanta, scene of several outbreaks last year, is more than doubling the number of play parks for the summer and will have four portable swimming pools available for use in Negro-populated areas.

"I think we might be in pretty good shape," said Johnny Robinson, the city coordinator.

Air Crashes

morning, an Argonaut inward-bound flight from Majorca dived into the heart of this industrial city, killing 72 and injuring 12.

Both planes were propeller-driven veterans on cheap vacation trips — one offering 15 days accommodation and travel for less than $100. Each crashed within sight of its destination and seconds after the pilots reported all was well.

Maurice Orbach, Laborite member of Parliament for Stockport, said he and other legislators will demand an immediate safety check and review of the age of all planes being brought out for summer service.

"It seems this Argonaut could have been 15 years old," he commented.

The Argonaut smashed into a tiny dell behind the main street of Stockport, part of the sprawling Manchester region. The dell is the only area clear of buildings for miles around.

The plane narrowly missed four tall apartment buildings. Part of it wound up in a service station forecourt. One wing demolished a 33,000-volt transformer station, blacking out much of the town. Another part demolished a television sales shop — unoccupied because it was Sunday.

From the police station 100 yards away, Chief Constable Leonard Massey came racing out. He saw the pilot, Capt. Harry Marlow, 42, crawl from the nose. Marlow died later in a hospital.

"Within seconds it seemed we had scores of rescuers there — police, firemen and volunteers," said Massey. "We pulled out about a dozen. Some were already dead. Some scrambled out themselves."

"Then the petrol — gasoline — tanks went up and the whole thing was an inferno. We could see people inside being burned to death."

Television's Best Actress Award Given to Lucille Ball

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences gave the Emmy for best actress in a comedy series last night to Lucille Ball, who last won the award 14 years ago.

"I can't believe it," the red-haired comedienne said tearfully as she clutched her gold statuette. "It's been a long, long time."

She added emotionally: "The last time I won I thought I got it because I had had a baby. That baby is 14 years old now."

She referred to the time she gave birth to a son the same day she gave birth to one on "I Love Lucy." She is now star of "The Lucy Show."

The Emmy for leading actor in a comedy series went to Don Adams of "Get Smart." He wisecracked before the nationwide audience: "I'm glad I got this because I had a lousy day at the races Saturday."

"The Sid Caesar et al Special" was selected the outstanding variety special of the 1966-67 season. The syndicated show headed by Mike Douglas was cited for outstanding daytime programming.

Peter Ustinov, who played Socrates in "Barefoot in Athens" for the Hallmark Hall of Fame, was named the leading dramatic actor in a single performance.

Geraldine Page won in the same category for her role in the Truman Capote yarn, "A Christmas Memory," on ABC's Stage 67.

"Death of a Salesman" won the award for outstanding dramatic program and its director, Alex Segal, was named best dramatic director.

"Mission: Impossible," which was considered an "iffy" bet for renewal because of mediocre ratings, came through a solid winner with four Emmies. The program won as outstanding dramatic series, and Barbara Bain was selected best leading actress in a dramatic series.

It also brought Emmies to writer Bruce Geller and to Paul Krasny and Robert Watts for film editing.

"Brigadoon" was a not her multiple winner. The ABC special—which starred Robert Goulet—was chosen for outstanding musical program. It also won for director Felder Cook and in three technical categories.

Bill Cosby of "I Spy" won as best leading actor in a dramatic series for the second year in a row, outpacing co-star Robert Culp.

"The Monkees" won as best comedy series and its director, James Frawley, won for best comedy direction. "The Andy Williams Show" was hailed as best in variety.

"ABC's Wide World of Sports" won the Emmy as best sports program.

The variety writing award went to a platoon of gag men for the "Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner and Howard Morris Special." The comedy series writing Emmy went to Buck Henry and Leonard Stern of "Get Smart."

Two news and documentary awards went to "China: The Roots of Madness" and its author, Theodore H. White. The victory was unusual since the Xerox-sponsored special appeared on local stations rather than a network. Other awards for news and documentaries went to "The Italians" and "Hall of Kings."

Don Knotts returned for his fifth Emmy, scoring again as supporting actor on "The Andy Griffith Show." He appeared as a guest, not a regular, in previous seasons. Andy's Aunt Bea, Frances Bavier, was best supporting actress in a comedy.

Jamestown to Open Bids on Library Project

The opening of bids originally scheduled to take place today for an addition to the James Prendergast Free Library has been postponed until Thursday.

Miles L. Lasser, chairman of the library's board of trustees said that the postponement was at the request of contractors who are currently negotiating new contracts with construction trade unions.

The new 80 x 120 addition will front on Washington st. and will extend from the present reading room and circulation dept. The new addition will provide additional office space and bookmobile facilities as well as enlarging both the reading room and circulation dept. Upon completion the library will lease the office space and bookmobile facilities to the Chautauque - Cattaraugus Library system.

Lasser pointed out that the new facility will cost approximately $366,000 with 80 per cent of the cost coming from two federal grants.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear children John Paul and Joan

Elizabeth Sadley, who passed away one year ago today June 5, 1966.

One sad and lonely year has passed, since my great sorrow fell.

The shock that I received that day no one can ever tell.

God gave me the strength to meet it, and courage to face the blow.

But what it meant to lose my baby daughter and only son, no one will ever know.

I'd like to think when life is done, wherever heaven may be.

That they'll be standing at the door up there to welcome me.

So you who have children, cherish them with love and care.

For you'll never know the heartache 'til they're no longer there.

Sadly missed by mother Anita and sisters

A ONE-ROOM

IF YOUR WHOLE
FAMILY LIVES IN ONE ROOM.

If you want to live in, say, two rooms, you just buy another one-room air conditioner. For three rooms, another . . . and so on. It's really very simple.

It's also very silly! And supporting a flock of one-room air conditioners is very costly, too.

Now let's get serious. For only $14 a month (maybe less), you can own clean, trouble-free, economical Gas whole-house air conditioning. With normal installation, a hefty three-ton unit is yours without even a down payment.

Here's the best part. If your home is heated with Gas, you probably already own about half a Gas air conditioning system: the ductwork, the blower and the filter. All you need is a cooling unit and a condensing unit.

For all the refreshing facts, just call the Gas Company. Gas whole-house air conditioning provides comfort for every member of your family . . . in every room of your house!

Israel, Jordan Clash on Border

(c) N.Y. Times News Service JERUSALEM, Israel — The clatter of machine-gun fire from Jordanian frontier posts rattled through Jerusalem yesterday as tension increased on the normally placid border.

An Israeli Army spokesman announced that the shooting was directed first at an Israeli position and later at a light aircraft. The fire was not returned, he said, and no casualties were reported.

It was the second such incident in four days. On Thursday, Jordanians fired several bursts at an Israeli position 450 yards northeast of the Mandelbaum Gate.

An army spokesman said the Israeli plane had not crossed into Jordanian air space.

Yesterday's shooting came from two areas, the Musrara Quarter near the Old City, which is in the Jordanian section of Jerusalem, and from the Ramat Rahel Sector south of the central area.

The Musrara bursts echoed loudly through Jaffa Road in the Israeli sector, crowded with pedestrians and vehicles for what seemed to be the first time in two weeks. A bearded old man dashed for cover but few others seemed to break their stride, a few pedestrians looking skyward for aircraft.

The bursts could be heard throughout most of the city which is divided by a "no-man's land" of empty fields, broken homes and fortifications.

Russian Buildup Goes On in Med

(c) N.Y. Times News Service ISTANBUL, Turkey — A destroyer of the Krupnyi class passed through the Bosphorus early yesterday to join the Soviet naval force cruising in the eastern Mediterranean.

The destroyer is the seventh Soviet warship from the Black Sea to pass through the Turkish Straits during the past week. The reinforcement of the Soviet Mediterranean fleet, which has a reported strength of 15 to 20 warships, began following the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli crisis.

Upon entering Allegheny State Park, Leigh Patterson, park commissioner, outlined plans for the completion of Quaker Lake which is now under development. Mr. Patterson told supervisors that Quaker Lake will be three times larger than Red House Lake which is located in the Park. He also pointed out that the western shore line of the Allegheny Reservoir about the Seneca Indian Nation, and that federal funds have been appropriated to the Seneca's for land and water related recreation. Following a brief stop at the administration building at Allegheny State Park, the supervisors returned to Jamestown shortly after 5 p.m.

Many of the supervisors expressed amazement at the vastness of the project and were made aware of the competition which will result for the tourist dollar. Several of the supervisors said they were not aware that so many boat launch sites, beaches and other recreational areas were part of the project.

Supervisors attending the Saturday trip were Richard O. Evans, board chairman; Albert W. Crockett, of Sherman; Charles W. McConnell of N. Harmony; Theodore Vimmerstedt of Jamestown; Gerald Tubbs of Portland; Clifford Briggs of Stockton; Roger Powell of Poland; Claude E. Townsend of Jamestown; Donald Crowell of Villanova; Peter To-til and Chester Tarnowski, both of Dunkirk; R. Theodore Smith of Jamestown; Elliot Kidder of Klanton; and Kenneth D. Lawrance of Ellington, also attending Marie E. Bemis, clerk of the board of supervisors and Grace Kunow, deputy clerk.

Fred J. Cusimano, Jamestown vice president of Chautauqua Lake Regions Inc., served as chairman of the event.

ON STAND-BY TAX

Tax Commission Criticizes Shafer

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chairman of Gov. Shafer's blue-ribbon tax commission says he has reservations about the governor's proposed stand-by income tax.

"I don't know how it could be done," the panel head, Dr. David H. Kurtzman, said over the weekend. "This would mean that the legislature would be passing on to the governor authority of the legislature."

Kurtzman also said that some members of the 12-member tax commission expressed displeasure over the fact that Shafer ignored much of the commission's recommendations.

"I told them to hold still till we communicate with the governor," Kurtzman, chancellor-emeritus of the University of Pittsburgh, said.

Although the commission had presented Shafer with its short-range tax recommendations, its job isn't finished yet. When the governor set up the panel last winter, he also asked it to survey long-range revenue needs.

Both the House and Senate return to work today. But House Republicans, who control that chamber by a slim margin, said they anticipated no immediate action on the Shafer's tax program.

The Senate also has a majority of Republicans but, here again, the margin is narrow. Republican legislative leaders privately concede that Shafer's stand-by income tax proposal will be "very difficult" if not impossible to pass.

When Shafer proposed this tax Thursday along with sundry other taxes, he ignored much of his tax commission's proposals which were keyed to an immediate, 1 per cent income tax, statewide, retroactive to Jan. 1.

Americans Leave Nigerian Region

(c) N.Y. Times News Service PORT HARCOURT, Nigeria — As a four-motored DC-6 circled overhead waiting for clearance, rebel troops rolled away oil drums blocking the runway.

Minutes later, at 8:33 a.m., the plane touched down, its arrival watched with mixed feelings among the crowd of men, women and children at the airport terminal.

Thus began the airlift yesterday of all American dependents from Nigeria's dissident Eastern Region, which last Monday proclaimed itself the independent Republic of Biafra.

POLICE, LOOK AMONG WALTZING FIREMEN —

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — A burglar who broke into a firm's building turned out to be very socially inclined and may have a ball with the police.

Along with a key to the back door, the prowler filched two tickets to the policemen's ball.

The evacuation was ordered by Washington after the Nigerian government declared the area to be a free zone.

Federal and rebel troops are now massing along the region's frontier.

To most diplomatic observers, an attack on the east is only a question of time.

The airlift, first rejected by Nigerian authorities, was finally approved late Saturday. The rebel government had already promised its cooperation, and there were no snags at this end, only a thorough "customs" search of the passengers' luggage.

His manifest showed a total of 101 passengers—33 mothers and 68 children. Before secession, Port Harcourt was an industrial complex around a giant oil refinery which processes the rich sulphur-free crude oil pumped from the Niger Delta swampland and from offshore wells.

Senators Differ on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the constant reminder of Vietnam in the background, U.S. senators differed yesterday on whether the United States should lead the way in breaking the Arab blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md., in separate speeches, urged President Johnson to pursue multilateral action with other maritime powers to end the blockade.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., appeared together and argued opposing sides of the question.

Stennis, an advocate of stronger military action in Vietnam, said the United States should act only in conjunction with other nations in the Middle East.

But Morse, an opponent of the Vietnam war, advised that the

Quads Birthday Takes the Cake

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I doubt if they really knew it was their birthday, since we have a birthday around here almost every month," Mrs. Jean Elfe, 35, said.

"They" are the four Elfe quadruplets, born to Mrs. Elfe a year ago.

On Saturday a white, pink and blue cake read "Happy Birthday Alan Gerard, Beth Anne, Catherine Ann and David Anthony."

"I wanted four small cakes," the wife of a Philadelphia detective, Richard Elfe, said. "But I couldn't find them. It was difficult to find one cake big enough to hold all the names."

United States take the initiative in breaking the blockade of shipping to Israel.

He advocated, in the absence of a diplomatic settlement, sending an American ship with escort through the blockaded Strait of Tiran.

"In my judgment," Morse added, "if we make perfectly clear to the world that we're now being aggressed upon by this little dictator who is straddling the Strait of Tiran and we're not going to permit him to have our flag flown at his su-france where he wants it flown, in the Strait of Tiran, you'll find both Egypt and Russia doing some second-thinking and you'll also find out allies coming to our assistance very quickly."

His "dictator" reference was to Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nas-er.

Stennis argued that the United States already has extended itself in Vietnam and that its forces are "down to the nub."

Besides, he said, "We've worked ourselves into a position in world thought that if you just wait long enough the United States will move in."

Morse and Stennis appeared on the ABC radio-television program "Issues and Answers".

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., criticized those he called the "updated breed of isolationists" who, he said, continue to believe American responsibilities are centered in Europe and in not stopping the spread of Communism in Asia.

Brewster said that the United States must work first through the U.N. He added that if the international organization fails to act effectively, "then it will become increasingly difficult for us to place any faith in her as a peacekeeping body in the future."

Scott voiced his views in a speech at a B'nai B'rith meeting in Harrisburg, Pa.

Brewster spoke at a Pikesville, Md., Jewish community meeting.

McGee's speech was prepared for American University commencement exercises.

Summer arrives this year on June 21. For most of us, it is the most pleasant season of the year. It is the season when the works of nature reach full bloom. It is the season of picnics, of hunting, fishing trips and camping. It is the season when the family car will carry vacationers far and wide across the land to see the sights and wonders which abound in this country.

Weekenders flock to the beaches and to lakes. Some are looking for quiet relaxation. Others will participate in exacting sports such as water skiing. A few will devote time to contemplating the wonders of the world in which we live. The latter will gain greater enrichment from summer than the rest of us. In their behalf, it is but fitting to issue a plea and a warn-

Quiet Flows the Nile

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
CAIRO—The crisis in Cairo is not in small ways, not all of them bad, Swissair from Geneva is very careful. It stops for almost 12 hours at Athens in mid-afternoon to avoid landing here after dark and goes on next morning at four o'clock, tilting down over the blazing Egyptian desert at sunup.

The Cairo airport is a joy. No planes, no waiting for a gate, no delay on baggage, no people. The customs officer is not only friendly but lonely and reads your papers laboriously, not in order to censor them but to find out how the crisis is going.

The Nile Hilton is deserted. Doormen and even telephone operators are not only civil but genial and prompt, and quiet flows the Nile. This is trouble? The official American families have been evacuated to Greece. Ambassadors, ministers and their knowledgeable assistants are all available. When you call to ask what Nasser is going to do they answer immediately in the hope that somebody from Washington may know what Johnson is going to do.

It is all a little odd and occasionally reassuring. The diplomats here seem less worried than their counterparts in Western Europe. They do not see the Russians as the instigators but merely as the exploiters of the crisis. They do not believe or confirm the newspaper stories about unusual and alarming Soviet naval moves out of the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean and they are not concerned about the reports that the Egyptians have seeded the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba with mines, noting that ships are going through the channel there to the Jordanian Port of Aqaba.

The Egyptian officials are equally available and agreeable. They regard New York as the arsenal of Israel, but they will spend hours explaining what a menace 2 million Jews are in this part of the world to 80 million Arabs.

They are preparing for war and talking peace. They have made their moves. They have got rid of the United Nations troops standing between them and the Israelis. They have announced their blockade of Israel's only direct exit to the Red Sea and Asia. They seem sure of Russia's support, though it is interesting that they say very little about this. They have warned all maritime nations that any country whose ships try to go to the Israeli Port of Elat will be denied passage not only through the Gulf of Aqaba but through the Suez Canal.

So now there is a pause. Nasser is waiting

JIM BISHOP

'Why Can't I Have the Pill?'

Yesterday, I flew to New York for a week of oral frizziness on the airwaves. You remember New York. That's the place where they have seven channels and three newspapers. I'm the perpetual guest on the couch shows. The gray bulldog, always happy to put his big feet in his mouth, answering questions on subjects about which he knows nothing.

There was a time when a man could write a book and forget it. Those days are gone. Today, writing the book is only half the fun. The rest is promoting it. This means travel to television and radio stations near and far. It means showing up ahead of time, stepping over snaky cables in cold hard barns, flitting like a moth to the spurious living room set with its hot lights, couches, coffee and pancake makeup.

I did 25 guest appearances on the old Jack Paar show. He was my friend. No matter what we discussed, I always felt free to interrupt his interjections. Once, when Castro was coming into Havana as a hero, I took Mr. Paar with me and we interviewed an American "harbudo" on camera in a suite at the Havana Hilton. Two hours later, the kid sent us a gift: one Cuban girl apiece. The coward asked me to get rid of them.

Hy Gardner always had a lively show. He used to put me on his show, not because I was any good at it, but because he had a genuine interest in helping people. He knew all the celebrities in showbiz, and they had a universal respect for this polite eager man. In time, he found that there is no payoff point in being nice. The tough guy always has an audience.

My lashing up the communications industry began in 1926 when I composed a waltz for piano called Charmant. It was atrocious, but it had the correct three-quarter time and a nut on a small radio station, WJL, asked me to play it on the air. Nothing happened. I don't think my mother listened.

The interview shows require a sharp catalyst. Irv Kupcinet, who does a three-hour t.v. show in Chicago, had me aboard three weeks ago. We discussed a new book of mine called "A Day in the Life of President Johnson."

After two hours, he looked down at me over that Mt. Rushmore nose and said: "I didn't think the President was so human."

Afterward, I addressed a Chicago group called Opus Dei. They appeared to be rich enough to pay $50 a plate, which they did. I was there on the cuff. Afterward, some of the men ing to all and sundry as the long worms of traffic stream out of the cities this summer for the mountains and the seashores. Every auto will be loaded with potential garbage, as well as people. Multiply each auto by tens of millions, each carrying its quota of paper plates, beer cans, melon rinds, all the refuse of living—and we come up with a pollution problem of awesome proportions.

Whether there is beauty left for future generations to enjoy depends on the behavior of the people. They have the power to leave a heritage of beauty or blight. The choice is made and a vote is cast whenever trash is tossed out of the family car along the roadside or left on the spots which nature provided for camping or picnicking. How will you vote?

and he is apparently satisfied and even pleased with the reaction. Some insurance companies have refused to quote rates for ships proposing to run his blockade and others have put their premiums up so high that few companies are interested in the gamble.

Nobody here thinks the U.N. will take effective action to break the blockade or expects the World Court to act in time, even if Cairo or Tel Aviv agreed to be bound by the court's decision, which they won't. And the U.S., preoccupied with Vietnam, is obviously not very enthusiastic about breaking the blockade on its own and risking a second front in the Middle East.

Accordingly, Cairo is not only calm for the moment but almost exultant. The Arab nations cannot agree about how to fight the poverty of their own peoples but they can unite on fighting the Jews, if necessary. They don't want war but only the things that lead to war, and they seem to think that they have raised the cost of war high enough so that neither the Americans nor the Israelis will pay the price.

It is not only that the Egyptians feel they have the Russians and the power of numbers on their side but also that they have right on their side. They reject Israel's right to run the blockade through the Gulf of Aqaba, not only because the entrance to the gulf lies within Egyptian territorial waters, but because Elath was seized by Israel after the armistice in the last Arab-Israeli war and therefore, in their view, is not legally part of the Israeli state.

They deny any intention of trying to destroy the state of Israel (unless of course there is a war). They even deny that they planned to get rid of the U.N. troops at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. This, they say, was proposed by the secretary general of the United Nations on the ground that if the U.N. couldn't keep its troops in one part of the crisis area, it wouldn't keep them in another part.

Yet Cairo is anxious, nonetheless. It is applying its military pressure on the installment plan. It has made its moves and is now making its arguments and is counting on the assumption that Washington, embroiled in Vietnam, will not think the challenge is worth the price.

On this, Nasser may be right in the short run, but he cannot be sure about Israel. The Israelis do not accept his arguments and do not fear his armies. They may regard the whole thing as blackmail, threatening their existence as a state, and fight regardless of Washington's policy of "friendly detachment." Others have thought about this too, which is why Swissair doesn't land its planes in Cairo at night and why the official American families have been evacuated to Greece.

MASON DENISON

Singed The Hides Of Others

HARRISBURG — Indications are strong that Pennsylvania's legislative braves are about to pack up their arrowheads and trinkets to wind up their 1967 legislative session the latter part of the month as some Snafer Administration Republican leaders had surmised earlier.

This at least is the general consensus of opinion among a number of legislative greats who retired to the pits in somewhat disorganized array following Governor Shafer's tax-and-take utterance before lawmakers the past week.

While Mr. Shafer indeed avoided the odiferous income tax proposal as an immediate means of raising the $260 million he now insists he needs to balance his budget for the new fiscal year, the conglomeration of taxes on business and personal items has only served to singe the hide of other lawmakers.

Business interests unquestionably will bring strong pressures to bear to knock out high imposts in their direction, which pressures may well be opposed by Democratic minority anti-administration blocs in both House and Senate.

Should this curious switch develop, it would place Democrats in the position of supporting the Republican Shafer Administration tax program, in part at least!

However when you come right down to it, legislative Democrats would be justifying a stand that has been their key over the years—that is (not supporting Republicans!) supporting tax on business and industry (as opposed of course to the individual or personal tax).

Thus Democrats, insofar as the Shafer tax program is concerned, find themselves in a paradoxical situation which at best politically, is a bit awkward for them.

On the other hand, Republicans historically have been noted for opposing what they like to refer to as "excessive taxation of industry"—which places many a GOP lawmaker in the questionable position of whether he is to support the Shafer Administration or traditional business interests!

In this sense it illustrates perhaps succinctly the general mix-up in political philosophies developing on the Shafer Administration tax proposal front.

What the alignment of forces will be in the end at this point is almost anyone's guess—and could mean speedy approval of the tax bundle offered by Mr. Shafer last week, or it could result in a healthy stalemate which would mean indefinite delay in packing legislative arrowheads and trinkets.

Taxes usually prove to be just about the biggest and most worrisome stumbling block on any legislative agenda and in a stalemate, such as brewed during the 1955-56 session (to illustrate the point) when for 17 months no one got anywhere and the trinket supply became exhausted, the tax issue indeed becomes the focal point, the "key" to an entire legislative session.

On the other hand, just four years ago during the preceding (Republican) Scranton Administration, Mr. Scranton placed before lawmakers an additional tax tab of $139 million (comparable to Mr. Shafer's $266 million additional tax tab) which to nearly everyone's surprise stumbled through the 1963 session to completion by the first of June.

Thus what originally looked like a scraggly, drawn out session that year wound up only on the scraggly side.

Whether a (comparative) parallel develops for Mr. Shafer and his entourage remains to be seen.

It is well to remember that while the tax thorn is the main prickler, there are other matters legislative that must be taken care of too.

The reformers state that there is no evidence to support the belief that marijuana is an addictive narcotic. In fact, they assert, it is not. Its champions contend that it is no more dangerous than alcohol, though it is hard, considering the carnage alcohol wreaks on a typical Saturday night, to see that this is much of an argument in its favor.

Laws against its sale and use, however, impose in many states more severe penalties than are provided for armed robbery. Most of these laws were written in the last decade when state legislatures were panicked by the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics into accepting the now discredited assumption that marijuana smoking leads straight to heroin addiction.

There is a good argument here for civilizing the present law. That a college student should be imprisoned for 20 years for selling pot, as recently happened in the state of Washington, is barbarous, Tak-

DREW PEARSON

Shied From Hoover Showdown

WASHINGTON — Rep. Manny Celler, distinguished and much-loved elder statesman from Brooklyn, has promised to pass a crime institute bill for research into crime, but he seems just a bit skittish about J. Edgar Hoover and another Brooklyn Congressman, John Rooney. Celler is shying away from putting any authorization for crime research into the new anti-crime bill proposed by President Johnson.

The latter bill will pass fairly soon, though not under the original name—the "safe streets" bill. Republicans didn't like this title because privately they plan to use safe streets as a campaign issue against Johnson in 1968. The legislation has been tagged "The National Crime Bill."

Meanwhile, Rep. James Scheuer, a New York Democrat who comes from the Bronx, not Brooklyn, worked out a comprehensive plan for research into the causes of crime, how to get more community support for the police, and cures for crime. Scheuer proposed a new Assistant Attorney General in the Justice Department to handle this.

However, J. Edgar Hoover objected. Over the years Hoover has always protested when anyone in the Justice Department wanted to backstop the FBI. This was the basic reason for the long-standing feud between Hoover and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

Rep. Scheuer tried to sell his idea to Attorney General Ramsey Clark, who liked it but stated frankly that he could not take on J. Edgar Hoover. Hoover has now received his third dispensation to serve beyond the statutory retirement age of 70. He is now 73. Ramsey, a young man coming up in government, shied away from any showdown.

Also opposing the idea of any research into crime is crusty, cantankerous John Rooney, the Brooklyn Congressman who rides herd on Justice Department appropriations. If he won't vote the money for research into the cause and cure of crime, the money isn't going to be voted. Republicans, however, are not so easily intimidated. Robert McClory, Republican of Illinois, has now introduced Scheuer's bill in the Judiciary Committee and proposes to push it whether J. Edgar Hoover or John Rooney like it or not.

An innocuous looking bill, so technical most Senators won't pay much attention to it, comes up in the Senate Commerce Committee tomorrow (June 6). Actually it will drive a hole bigger than a 10-ton truck through the Federal Power Commission, the agency entrusted with pro-

RUSSELL BAKER

Marijuana Won't Do

WASHINGTON — What's happening, baby, as they say in Teeny-Booperland, is marijuana. Pot. Grass. According to the papers and magazines, which in these matters seldom exaggerate by more than a factor of ten, it has replaced Crackerjacks among American young.

As might have been expected in an age when even righteous institutions as the state of New York quit fighting the rackets and cut themselves a piece of the action, many decent and intelligent persons have responded to the marijuana fad by urging that it be made socially acceptable. This would be a mistake.

What these well-meaning reformers must ask themselves is whether our young grasspuffers really want marijuana to be made socially respectable. Let's look at the arguments pro and con.

The reformers state that there is no evidence to support the belief that marijuana is an addictive narcotic. In fact, they assert, it is not. Its champions contend that it is no more dangerous than alcohol, though it is hard, considering the carnage alcohol wreaks on a typical Saturday night, to see that this is much of an argument in its favor.

Laws against its sale and use, however, impose in many states more severe penalties than are provided for armed robbery. Most of these laws were written in the last decade when state legislatures were panicked by the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics into accepting the now discredited assumption that marijuana smoking leads straight to heroin addiction.

There is a good argument here for civilizing the present law. That a college student should be imprisoned for 20 years for selling pot, as recently happened in the state of Washington, is barbarous, Taking the barbarism out of the law, however, is quite different from admitting marijuana to the sanctity of the living room. The point to bear in mind is that youth needs stern adult opposition to pot. One of the great problems of being young nowadays is the difficulty keeping the adult world from smothering you with acceptance.

Youth, being youth, naturally wants an adult world that it can plant its feet against, a world to which it can say, "your society is corrupt and ours noble," a bumbling conspiracy of the varicose-veined at whose codes it can thumb its nose.

Part of the terrible responsibility of being an adult is the obligation to satisfy this need of the young. In this we have failed during the last few years. When children discovered rock 'n' roll, it delighted them not only for whatever reason rock 'n' roll delights children, but also because the old folks loathed it so thoroughly. Now mom and dad play it on the stereo and drive the young half mad by refusing to tell them how inferior it is to Benny Goodman.

When the girls came up with the mini-skirt, what they doubtless yearned for, almost as much as mobility and display, was a paroxysm of adult temper. With adult cries that their skirts were corrupt, decadent and obscene, the girls might have satisfied their natural need to feel that the adult world was hopelessly out of touch with life.

Instead, the mini-skirt was promptly commandeered by decrepit creatures of 25 and 30, who made it their own and thus destroyed its value as a generational rallying flag.

The boys appeared to be on to something gloriously outrageous when the Beatles introduced hair. Alas, after a brief year or so of resistance, the adult world saw how ridiculous it was to risk apoplexy over something as common place as hair, and resistance collapsed. Long hair and beards were made socially respectable. Even fathers began growing one or the other, and sometimes both.

SYLVIA PORTER

1 In 3 Will Rent Clothes

Within 10 years, at least one in three of us will wear rented clothes on the job—vs. one in 10 of us today.

The rented clothes trend has surged far beyond the traditional service fields and blue collar jobs and into high white collar ranks.

Today, 700 U. S. corporations specialize in making and renting on the job clothes ranging from surgical gowns and coveralls to ivy league blazers and button-down shirts for business executives.

As an indication of the growth of this industry, sales have skyrocketed from $50 million just after World War II to $650 million today. Sales of Work Wear Corp., largest company in this field, have soared from $18 million in 1961 to a projected $80 million this year.

Who wears the rented clothes to work?

The nation's airlines are among the biggest customers, including Pucci outfits for stewardesses, pilots' uniforms and special clothes for on-the-ground airline personnel.

The medical field is another major user of rented clothes, for physicians, surgeons, nurses, researchers, pharmacists and patients. Usually, doctors pay a rental fee for their white hospital suits or jackets, but for most other users of rented clothes the employer bears the costs.

Other key users include beauticians, electronics and aerospace workers, workers in atomic plant "clean rooms," supermarket clerks, waitresses, bellhops and bartenders in restaurants and hotels.

Among the new corporate white-collar users are Ford auto dealers who regularly rent special red blazers for their showroom personnel and many of General Motors supervisors, who are given 11 rented shirts apiece—six to keep on hand while the other five are being laundered.

Typically, a company rents a supply of uniforms or clothes from an industrial launderer or a rented-clothes manufacturer. The company, in turn, supplies the clothes free to employees.

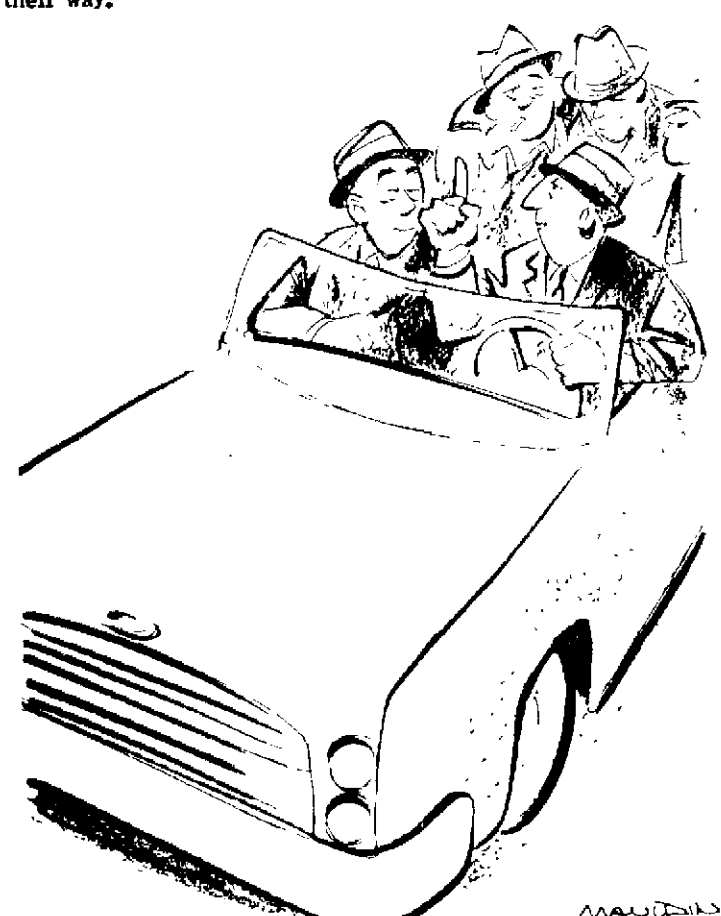

Behind the rented clothes trend are these key forces:

- + The over-all U.S. trend to rent vs. buy about everything, including cars, furniture, trucks, airplanes, jewelry, evening clothes, banquet supplies, bulldozers and oil paintings;
- + Growing corporate consciousness of the corporate image which, many companies are convinced, can be brightened by more attractive, stylish, company-identifying clothes for employees;

- + The increase in numbers of working wives who do not have time to launder and maintain their husbands' work clothes.

But probably cost-saving is the biggest single factor. Work Wear President Leighton A. Rosenthal estimates that an executive or supervisor whose company provides him with shirts all year long saves a total of $800 in laundry and maintenance costs, and in the initial purchase price. This is equivalent to a $300 a year "raise" in salary, and for employees whose entire outfits are provided by their companies, the "raise" is far bigger.

In sum, for millions of American workers today, free on-the-job clothes are a major money-making fringe benefit—and millions more will be participating in this benefit in the years ahead.

Boating to Camp Can Be A Day of Pleasure

By DON NEAL

Pleasure boating is fun. It is even something more than just fun when 12,000 acres of sun-drenched, wind-dimpled waters stretch out before the bow to offer a hundred and one places to be visited, explored.

Open waters for skiing, secluded bays for fishing.

An occasional glimpse of wild life along the shore, or a chance to loll on the deck and watch great hawks circle aimlessly overhead.

A dip in the crystal waters of an inlet, or a sun bath at a suitable spot along the shoreline.

Yes, pleasure boating is fun! And the Kinzua area offers the pleasure boater a wealth of opportunities to enjoy every facet of the sport.

So many opportunities for enjoyable activities that when day is done the boater is ready to rest, relax. And there is no finer place to do just this than the boat-to-camp areas that have been established at points on the lake's perimeter by the Forest Service.

At these areas the pleasure boater can become a camper by simply beaching his boat and setting up his tent.

Over the Memorial Day weekend 10 member families of the reorganized Allegheny-Buckaloons Boat Club did just that. At an area known as Hook's Brook they established a tent city within feet of the lake's lapping wavelets. Meals were cooked over open fires, and huge quantities of driftwood

Most enthusiastic among the boating campers was the small fry furnished fuel for the evening campfires.

Boating activities kept all hands happily busy throughout the daylight hours, camp-based revelry entertained them well into the night throughout their three-day stay.

All participants pronounced the excursion a terrific success and claim they are ready to go again on a moment's notice. No wonder! For what other pastime can surpass an expedition that combines the pleasures of both boating and camping in a single project on what must surely be one of the most scenic lakes in many a mile? Not a single one, that's for sure.

Bond men were encouraged however, when the Federal Reserve System, after watching long-term interest rates climb for seven weeks, purchased long-term government bonds three times during the last half of May.

This was regarded as a signal that monetary authorities wanted to see the ample supply of credit in the banking system spill over to the bond market. With bond yields rising fairly close to their peaks of late last summer, concern among monetary authorities began to mount, and they apparently decided to enter the bond market for force.

During the week ended May 24, the Federal Reserve open market committee's desk purchased $70.1 million of government bonds and it bought $43.1 million more during the week ended last Wednesday. As a result, Treasury bond prices rose sharply for a week and recorded their steepest rally so far this year.

Corporate bond prices also rose, and new issues sold more quickly to investors. Institutions apparently were more convinced that interest rates might stabilize at their late May levels for a time.

Many business economists are convinced that higher taxes—a 10 per cent surcharge, instead of the 6 per cent proposal of last winter—are on the way to reduce the big federal deficit, avoid a repetition of last year's credit crunch and contain inflationary pressures.

Has the stock market finally discounted the probability of a tax increase? Probably not. It never took the administration's suggestion of a 6 per cent surcharge very seriously, and it is only now beginning to realize that the actual administration push for a tax increase, when it comes, will be differently motivated, more serious and more than 6 per cent.

There is no assurance that the administration's eventual move to trigger a tax increase consideration by congress would have an adverse effect on the stock market. It would well be greeted bullishly because it would signal Washington's determination to resort to fiscal policy, and not rely solely on monetary policy to rein inflationary pressures. It appears that the great mistake of 1966 will not be repeated.

Recent reports suggest that appropriations for business capital spending are lagging. Such investment, consequently might not even show the generally expected 5 or 6 per cent gain this year.

Moreover, housing still hasn't generated any great zip; corporate profits seem almost certain to decline again in the second quarter, and the need for considerable correcting of excessive business inventories still appears to be overhanging the economy, although economists disagree about this.

Offsetting these adverse elements are the strong upswing in defense spending and the indications, from many sources, that consumer intentions to buy, particularly big-ticket items, are rising. Another salutary development was congressional restoration of the investment tax credit.

Other significant news last week included: —Manufacturers' inventories rose slightly more than $600 million in April, double the March gain and the largest increase since January.

—New orders received by manufacturers had a modest increase of 0.8 per cent in April after a gain of 0.4 per cent the month before, but manufacturers' shipments dropped 0.7 per cent from March to April.

—Farm prices rose 2 per cent in the month ended May 15, reversing a steady decline that began last fall and suggesting new pressures in the months ahead to lift consumer prices.

—Companies raised cigarette prices one cent a pack at retail.

—The Federal Home Loan Bank board ordered a rollback on interest paid on deposits by savings and loan associations in four western states to 5 per cent from 5.25 per cent, but it avoided any general forced reduction of rates elsewhere.

—The U.S. gold stock increased by $50 million in April after an inflow of $23 million in March.

With no stimulating business or economic news, the stock market last week reacted only to the uncertain and unsettling international situation.

Although the stock averages ended with modest losses, it was a decidedly lower week for the market as a whole, with 1,070 issues posting losses and 377 showing gains.

The Dow-Jones industrials were down 7.01 for the week in closing at 863.31, stretching the losses through four weeks. The New York Times combined average of 50 stocks was off 4.32 points to 508.23, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index declined 1.19 to 89.79.

Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange averaged 8.1 million shares a day for the holiday week's four sessions, against an average of 9.3-million shares daily in the preceding week.

The week's most active issue was Essex Wire on sales of 624,900 shares. It closed at 47 1/2, up 7 1/2 for the week. This stock continued to show strength following the word that it was discussing a merger with the Chicago and North Western Railway.

Occidental Petroleum, second busiest issue on turnover of 463,000 shares, advanced 1 3/4 to 61. There was Wall Street talk about merger discussions with other companies. In addition, the company announced on Wednesday that one of its new wells in Libya had produced 43,000 barrels of oil a day, compared with an initial test rate of 5,000 barrels. On Friday Occidental said it had given Tennessee, Inc., an option to purchase 886,000 shares of Kern County Land, which Occidental had obtained through a tender offer.

Control Data was the third most active stock for the week on sales of 371,400 shares. It advanced 1 1/2 to 93 1/2. There was no news to account for the activity or the advance.

American Motors, continuing active since price reductions on some of its automobiles several weeks ago, was the fourth busiest issue with volume of 367,200 shares. It eased 1/2 to 12 3/4.

The Milwaukee Railroad was the fifth most active stock on exchanges of 367,100 shares. It jumped 4 1/4 to 56 3/4. The increased activity might have reflected the fact that the company is a possible merger candidate with the Chicago and North Western, which has indicated it wants to effect a merger with Essex Wire.

WEEK IN FINANCE

Stock Market Finds A Floor; Investors Wonder of Firmness

By THOMAS E. MULLANEY

(c) N. Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK—The stock market finally seemed to find a floor late last week after its steady descent since early May, but investors are wondering whether it will prove to be firm or fragile.

Security analysts are saying that the market needs more good news right now. For weeks it has had a few encouraging economic or political developments.

The crisis that erupted suddenly in the Middle East more than a week ago brought new uncertainty to a stock market already buffeted by several bearish factors, particularly the absence of new vigor in the economy, the rising interest rates and the specter of more inflation and higher taxes later in the year.

Prices of stocks swung erratically this week. After a moderate pre-holiday loss on Monday the market took a severe plunge on Wednesday—its broadest and deepest in seven months. The Dow-Jones industrial index sank 12.42 points to 852.56 following some apparently menacing military moves in the Middle East.

Just as suddenly, the market averages snapped back the next day. Stocks then held fairly steady on Friday, but it was the fourth downward week for the market as a whole.

At the weekend, the prevailing sentiment in Wall Street was that the market might be entering a period of hesitation unless there are decisive developments in the Arab-Israeli dispute or in the economy.

In contrast to the atmosphere in the stock market, there was a better tone in the bond market again. Nevertheless investment bankers remain skeptical of the outlook for the economy and the administration's ability to hold down the size of the federal deficit in fiscal 1968.

Bond men were encouraged however, when the Federal Reserve System, after watching long-term interest rates climb for seven weeks, purchased long-term government bonds three times during the last half of May.

This was regarded as a signal that monetary authorities wanted to see the ample supply of credit in the banking system spill over to the bond market. Struthers Has New Family Of Generators

Struthers Wells Corporation of Warren, Pa., has announced a new family of shop-assembled gas turbine generators to supply power in a range from 4 to 14 MW.

The new Struthers design incorporates a principle of multiple, separately operable gas turbines to provide high reliability with minimum cost of field erection and start-up through delivery of an operable and pre-tested power plant in a single unit.

Struthers Multi-Pack Gas Turbine Generators will employ from two to five turbo-prop engines, each, capable of operating separately or in unison, to be supplied by the Allison Division of General Motors Corporation.

Among advantages of this design is the minimizing the possibility of complete loss of power, and reduction of the need for spare capacity. By varying the number of engines in operation to meet load requirements, excellent part-load performance can be obtained.

Amex, Over-Counter Prices Take Mid-Week Pounding

(c) N. Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK—Prices on the American Stock Exchange and on the Over-the-Counter market took a sharp mid week pounding and, despite moderate recovery on Friday, closed the week on lower ground.

The biggest drop occurred on Wednesday when 690 issues declined on the American and its index fell 47 cents. A similar setback took place on the same day for industrial issues traded on the Over-the-Counter market.

The National Quotation Bureau's index of 35 industrial stocks traded on the Over-the-Counter market had one of its greatest declines of the year, dropping 7.03 from the previous week to 297.78.

The American Stock Exchange's index dropped 36 cents to 18.32. This was the largest weekly decline this year.

In last week's four trading days the American turnover amounted to 11,987,365. This compared with 19,149,265 last week.

Ionics, engaged in desalting saline water lost 3 1/2 points on profit-taking on the Over-the-Counter market. The stock had risen 6 points in the previous few weeks.

McLean Industries lost a point in active trading. Last week the company disclosed plans to lease seven freight container ships from Litton Industries.

Although the New York Stock Exchange approved the common shares of Avery Products for listing on June 20, the stock fell 1/2 point.

Automatic Sprinkler advanced a point on good volume. The company recently reported improvement in 1966 profits.

An increase in the common quarterly dividend to 15 cents a share from the 10 cents previously paid sent Monroe Automotive ahead 1/4 point.

Big Apple Supermarkets moved ahead 1/4 after applying for a listing on the American Stock Exchange.

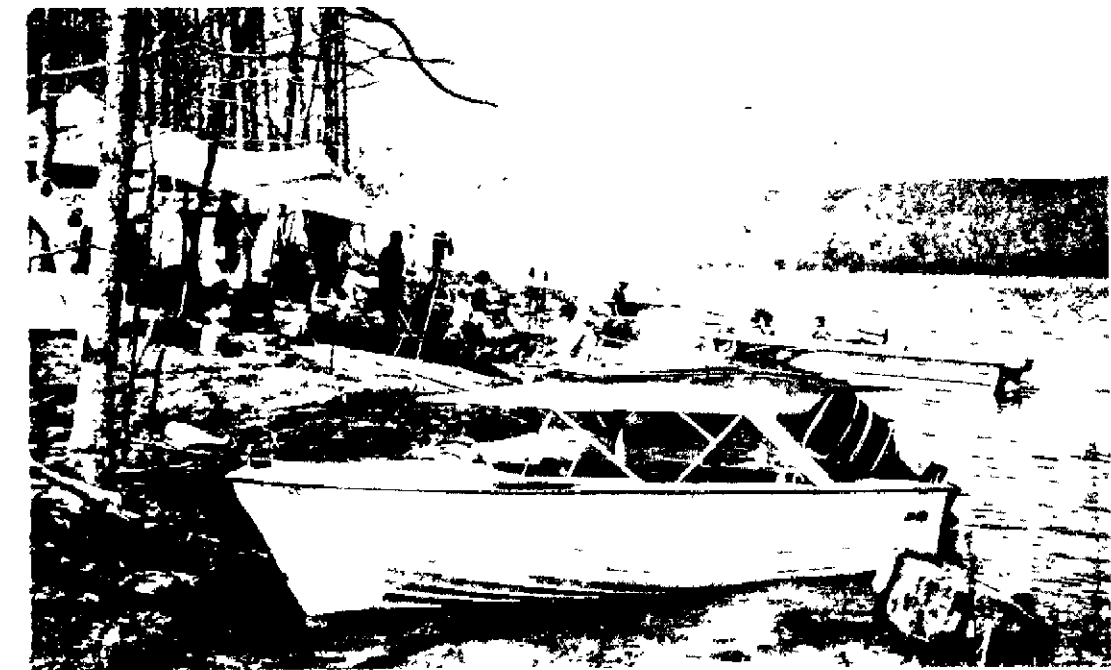

Among the gainers for the week on the Over-the-Counter market were: American Malse 2; New Britain Machine 6; Hexcel Products 3 and Photon Inc. 3.

Losing ground were: American Express 3; Applied Technology 3 1/4; Arrow Hart 3 1/2; National Chemsearch 4; Barnes Hinds 2; Hyster 3 1/4; Kentucky Fried Chicken 3 1/4; Fabst 2 1/4; Rucker 2 1/4; Tampax 3; Doyle Dane Bernbach 1 1/2 and Medici-centers 2.

Volume leader for the week on the American Stock Exchange was Dynalene, which traded 244,700 shares. It was down 1/2 at 10 1/2. Goldfield was next with a turnover of 228,400 shares, closing at 4 3/4, up 1/2. In third place for the week was Syntex, off 2 1/2 at 85 1/2 on 211,000 shares.

Air Force Pilots Down Two MIGs

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — Air Force pilots Saturday blasted two MIGs out of the sky near Hanoi. Thunderchief fighter-bomber pilots shot down the MIGs in 90 seconds, raising the total to 74 enemy fighters shot down over North Vietnam.

The air battle broke out when three MIG-17s challenged American planes after they had attacked the Baogiang railroad and highway bridge, 27 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Capt. Larry D. Wiggins, 33, of Houston, Texas, aimed at one MIG and hit it with an air-to-air missile on the right side of the tail. As the MIG continued to climb, the captain gave it a burst of 20 mm cannon fire, and the MIG exploded.

"My biggest impression was how fast everything happened," Wiggins said. "It wasn't over a minute and a half after we picked them up that they were on the ground."

The other MIG was downed by Maj. Ralph L. Kuster, 35, of St. Louis, Mo.

There were no reports of damage to the American planes in the encounters. Twenty United States planes have been shot down in aerial battles over North Vietnam, compared to the 74 MIGs destroyed in the air.

The MIGs were downed in the second day of fighting in the air to the northeast of Hanoi. On Friday, Thunderchief pilots fought with MIGs three times. Military sources said that Col. Robin Olds, the most successful American fighter pilot of the war, may have brought down his fifth enemy MIG Friday, an accomplishment that would make him an ace.

The sources said that Olds had been involved in a protracted dogfight near Hanoi. In the confusion of battle, it was impossible for the pilot to determine whether a MIG had been downed, but film of the engagements is being examined, the sources said.

In the latest attacks against targets in North Vietnam, American pilots cut both approaches to the Baogiang bridge and damaged warehouses, storage areas and rail lines in the railroad yard.

Other Thunderchief pilots hit a bypass railroad bridge in the same area, 27 miles north of Hanoi, and bombed a rail siding four miles closer to the capital. Air Force and Navy pilots attacked other rail centers in the southern panhandle south of Hanoi.

HALF-BILLION WASTED ON RIFLES

Senate Subcommittee Raps Army Procurement

BY ROY REED

WASHINGTON — A Senate subcommittee sharply criticized the Army's rifle procurement program since World War II, and particularly during the 1960's, in a report made public yesterday.

The Senate armed services preparedness subcommittee, headed by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., accused the Army and the Defense Department of "indecision, vacillation, changes in policy and stops and starts which have plagued the Army's rifle program since 1945."

The subcommittee said the Army had spent $500 million "for the taxpayers' money" on the M-14 rifle and then, because of unnamed "influential people in the Pentagon" had suddenly shifted to the M-16 rifle in 1963.

The subcommittee reviewed the history of rifle buying in a study that came to a head with a hearing April 5. In its unanimous report, it said it was disturbed to find so much indecision "on a relatively simple weapon such as a rifle."

Secretary of the Army, Stanley R. Resor, defended the Army in a letter to the subcommittee that was published as an appendix to the report. He said that what had struck the subcommittee as vacillation was actually an exercise of prudence.

The Army changed its policy after receiving new data, and would have been derelict if it had not considered the new information, Resor said.

The subcommittee dismissed Resor's defense by saying "delays, indecision and stops and starts in any weapon program can always be cloaked by the claimed prudence of retests, re-evaluation and preservation of options."

The subcommittee said that behind the shift was a long-term decision to develop a new lightweight hand-held weapon known as the SPIW (Special Purpose Individual Weapon).

The Army pinned its hopes on the SPIW, which was to be placed in pilot production in 1966, and filled the gap with existing M-14's, old M-1's and the new M-16's, the report said. The SPIW was to be in mass production by 1969.

The subcommittee found that progress of the SPIW had been disappointing and that it had been returned to the research and development category.

"In the meantime," the subcommittee commented, "in reliance on it, procurement of rifles and modernization of the Army's inventory has been delayed for several years during which we found ourselves involved in a shooting war."

Marines Claim Lopsided Victory

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines claimed a lopsided victory over a Communist regiment yesterday in a battle that left 474 enemy dead against Leatherneck losses of 54 killed and 120 wounded. In another action, 36 Viet Cong surrendered to U.S. Army troops.

Military headquarters in Saigon said the Marines established the enemy death toll in followup sweeps of their battle area about 25 miles southwest of the main Marine base at Da Nang.

However, the Marines found on the battlefield only four individual weapons and four crew-served weapons. The Communist regiment, about 3,000 men at full strength, slipped away to the north Saturday under intense air and artillery pounding.

A military spokesman said the Red unit was a crack regiment which had long been operating in the area.

In embattled Quang Ngai Province where an Army task force has been fighting veteran Communist guerrillas in a string of stiff battles, two groups of Communist defectors surrendered Saturday.

One group of 2, all waving surrender passes dropped from psychological warfare planes, came into a brigade headquarters and a short time later another 12 surrendered nearby.

In the same area, troops of the 101st Airborne captured 50 water buffalo in a Viet Cong-controlled area and turned them over to the South Vietnamese for distribution among farmers in the friendlier coastal region.

Helicopters scouting the jungle spotted the wreckage of a reconnaissance plane which vanished Friday. Rescue crews were lowered into the jungle area and found both crewmen of the downed plane dead. The plane was later lifted out by a big Chinook helicopter. The cause of the crash was being investigated.

Military headquarters reported only scattered ground actions Sunday. There were Communist mortar attacks at outposts below the demilitarized zone and in the Mekong delta and several ground probes.

Nasser Sending Vice President To Washington

CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser is sending his vice president to Washington Wednesday to discuss the Middle East crisis with President Johnson, the semi-official newspaper El Ahran reported today.

Vice President Zakaria Mo-hammed, together with the vice premier responsible for foreign affairs, Mahmoud Fawzi, will fly to Washington to "explain the Arab point of view," the paper said.

The two top Egyptian ministers, it was reported, will go to Washington in response to a message from Johnson in which he offered to dispatch Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to "the area of the crisis" and pleaded for restraint to avoid an explosion in the Middle East.

Shoppers Cautioned To Watch Load Lines

HARRISBURG (AP) — Watch when you reach for goods above load lines in food market freezer cases.

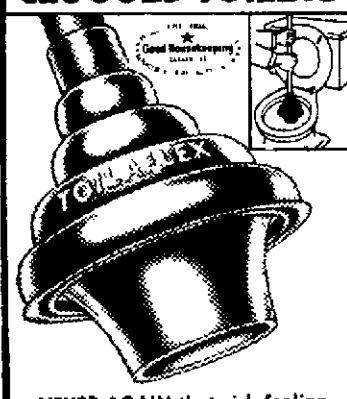

The State Agriculture Department says to make sure you don't buy any frozen foods stocked above these red or black lines. Most stores post signs reading, "Do not place frozen foods above this line."

State regulations require merchants to keep frozen food display cases at zero or colder temperatures and forbid stocking packages above the load line.

Hill Hangs on to Cop Memphis Open

Consistent Play Provides Surprise, Pott Runner-Up

By BOB GILBERT
AP Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Former caddy Dave Hill, first player even to lead here all the way, won the $100,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament yesterday and took home the biggest check of his 10-year pro career.

Going into the final round with a five-stroke lead, Hill began losing ground on the ninth hole but finished with an eight-under-par 272, two strokes ahead of Johnny Pott, who made a brilliant late charge.

Hill shot a three-over par 73 on the final 18 while Pott had an eagle and four birdies on the back nine for a sizzling 66 and a 7-3 total.

Hill, who picked up a check for $20,000, had a two-stroke lead going into the last hole but sent his second shot into a sand trap. He chipped out, and two-putted to victory from 12 feet away.

Harold Henning shot a 68 and finished third at 275, followed by Randy Glover and Dan Sikes at 276. Next came Chuck Courtney, Jerry McGee, Gary Player, Labron Harris Jr. and Don January with 277s.

Player, in second place after three rounds, had a 73.

"I think the toughest thing in the world is to lead a tournament when everybody is expecting you to fall flat on your face," Hill said. "Unless you're an Arnold Palmer or a Gary Player, they expect you to fall on your face, and I was heading in that direction."

"I know it's just money. If you shoot 80, the world's not going to end," Hill said. "But today, I couldn't get that 'so what' attitude. Winning every week would send me to the nut-house."

Hill had four bogeys, a double bogey and only three birdies in the final round and said: "I almost quit breathing out there. I didn't think I was going to make it."

Pott's change began on No. 9 after a double bogey. He birdied the ninth and 10th holes, sank a 30-foot putt for an eagle on the 13th and birdied the last three.

On 18, he smashed the longest drive of the tournament, hit the green in two and two-putted from 40 feet for a birdie.

Hill, 30, plays a qualifying round here today for the U.S. Open, but said it really doesn't concern him if he fails to make it.

Defending champion Bert Yancey came in with a 72, giving him a 278.

Last year, Yancey set the Memphis Open record with a 265.

Former champ Jack Nicklaus shot a 69 for a par 280. Hill's four-day card read 66-68-68-73.

He opened the showdown round with a bogey on the first hole, but dropped a three-foot putt for a birdie on No. 2, then added six pars.

On No. 9, he took a double bogey 5. On 14, he landed in the bunker and bogeyed.

Leading Pott by only two strokes on 18, Hill's second shot found a bunker and he chipped 12 feet past the pin. "I eased my first putt closer to the cup, then I putted out," he said. "I was just anxious to get off the course."

Hill has won only four PGA tournaments — the last one in 1963. His earnings this year now stand at $32,569.

Twin DI Humbles Old-Timers, 28-4

Twin Drive-In turned the Old-Timers' softball team's debut into a shambles last night, routing the veterans 24-8 in a game played under the lights at Carbon Memorial Field.

Jamestown's Fred Knapp, at the wheel of the Bergrund sponsored Chevrolet, won a semi-final race and the twenty-five lap feature. In another night of Chevelle domination, Warren's Emory Mahan put the best dent into the Chevelle cause by driving his '67 Plymouth to a win in the third heat race and a third place finish in the feature behind Knapp and Bob Schnars, Busti, who won the first two feature races of the season at Stateline. Knapp, Furlow Post Wins In Features at Stateline

By JOHN GANLEY

BUSTI—Fred Knapp "stole" the show at Stateline Saturday night in winning the 25-lap feature event for the late model cars.

Winner of the sportsman feature was Skip Furlow, like Knapp, a native of Ashville, N.Y.

The late model feature started with Ken Shearer getting off to a fast start. He had the pole position and took advantage of it to gain a big lead. He led for the first eight laps. On the eighth lap several cars were involved in a spin-out on the fourth turn and the race had to be stopped.

Knapp, who appeared to be running no better than fifth at the time, moved into the third spot on the restart behind Shearer and Marty Rater.

As the drivers were given the green flag Knapp put his foot to the floor in his 1967 Chevelle and took the lead on the ninth lap. He was never threatened for the remainder of the race. Bobby Schnars of Busti, the winner of the last two Stateline races, finished second. Warren's Emory Mahan had his night of the season with a third place finish. Marty Rater was fourth followed by Shearer.

Of the top five, Mahan drove a '67 Plymouth and Shearer a '64 Chevy, the others piloted new Chevilles.

In the Sportsman feature, it was just a matter of time before Skip Furlow could get through the pack from his starting position to take the lead. He grabbed first spot in about the fourth lap and held it, unchallenged, the rest of the day.

None of the previous winners this year were entered in the event. Bruce Greene, the winner of two, had car trouble, and Ron Blackmer demolished his car at Erie a week ago.

The third heat race for the late models was a thriller. Emory Mahan had the pole position and took the lead from the start. John Whitehead of North Citymer, came from back in the field to catch Mahan on the seventh lap. They ran neck-in-neck for the final two before Mahan managed to win by a fender.

The night was very accident free. The only time the races had to be stopped was in the late model feature.

Mt. Jewett Outlasts Ludlow in Slugfest

The Ludlow Wildcats came out on the short end of a 18-17 slugfest against Mt. Jewett yesterday, losing the McKean-Lik County League game in the last of the ninth after staging a furious rally to catch up. The game lasted four hours.

Behind 17-7 after five complete innings, the Wildcats edged closer with two runs in the sixth, a trio in the seventh and two more in the eighth. A three-run outburst in the top of the ninth put the Ludlow team back in the game, but an error in the home team's half of the frame cost the Wildcats the victory.

The Independents had hammered Ludlow starter Don Mohny hard over the first few frames and Terry Dross came on to pitch tough relief before the home team was able to push across the winning run.

Bud Moore and Bob Haden had sparked Ludlow at the plate. Moore ripped three hits, including a double and triple in five trips and Haden bombed a grand slam homer in the second frame. Mohny also collected three safeties and had the Wildcats only other extra-base hit, a two-bagger.

Next Sunday, the Wildcats host Shinglehouse for a loop twinbill at Wildcat Park. Starting time for the first game is 1 p.m.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL ROUNDUP:

Clemente Sparks Bucs over LA, 4-1

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roberto Clemente drove in four runs with his 11th and 12th homers yesterday and led Pittsburgh to a 4-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Clemente broke a 1-1 tie with a three-run blast in the seventh inning to help Bob Veale, 7-1, best Dodger right-hander Don Drysdale, 5-5, Matty Alou and Maury Wills were aboard with two-out singles.

Clemente's bases-empty homer off Drysdale in the fifth inning was the first allowed by Drysdale in 92 innings this year. A walk to Ron Fairly, a double by Bob Bailey and a single by Jeff Torborg is the second inning deprived Veale of a shut-out.

Veale, who gave up just five hits and struck out seven, needed relief help from Elroy Face in the ninth when he opened the inning with his sixth walk.

Phils-Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Johnny Briggs' three-run homer capped a six-run explosion in the ninth inning that lifted the Philadelphia Phillies past Houston 6-1 yesterday for their sixth straight victory.

The Phillies trailed 1-0 in the ninth when Johnny Callison's leadoff double — only the fourth hit off rookie Don Wilson — triggered the winning burst.

Dan Schneider replaced Wilson at that point and gave up a single to Tony Taylor. Callison stopped at third, Carroll Sembrana then came in to pitch and struck out pinch hitter Don Lock before Cookie Rojas' singled tied the score.

Sembrana walked Gary Sutherland and pinch hitter Tito Francona forced him at second as the go-ahead run scored. Tony Gonzalez' infield hit delivered another run before Briggs unloaded his three-run blast.

The Astros scored an unearned run in the first inning when left fielder Gonzalez dropped Julio Gotay's pop fly for a two-base error and Ed Matthews stroked a two-out single.

But starter Rick Wise and relievers Grant Jackson, Dick Farrell and Dick Hall blanked the Astros the rest of the way.

Tigers-Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick McAuliffe crashed a grand slam homer with two out in the 13th inning, powering Detroit to an 11-7 victory over the New York Yankees and a split in their doubleheader yesterday.

Al Downing hurled a five-inning shutout for the Yankees while Joe Pepitone slammed a two-run homer as the Yankees took the opener 5-0.

Bill Freehan opened the 13th off Dooley Womack with a ground rule double, the Tigers second hit since the sixth inning. After Horn Cash flied out, pinch hitter Al Kaline and Jerry Lumpe walked and Bill Heath struck out, setting the stage for McAuliffe's ninth homer of the season and fifth career slam.

Johnny Podres pitched three shutout innings of relief for the Yankees.

Pinch hitter Jake Gibbs hammered his first homer of the season with one out in the ninth, tying the score, 7-7 as the Yankees battled back from a 7-3 deficit. John Kennedy hit a homer in the fifth and Dick Howser's two-run single capped a three-run rally in the seventh. Starting pitcher Hank Aukaire drilled a bases-loaded triple in the second inning and Norm Cash tripled across a run in the fifth as the Tigers jumped to a 6-1 lead.

The Yankees scored runs in the fourth and fifth before Don Werf's run-scoring single in the sixth sent the Tigers in front 7-3.

Pepitone's first-game homer followed a two-out walk to Mickey Mantle in the first inning. Bill Robinson hit an inside-the-park homer in the seventh and the Yankees added two more runs in the eighth.

Downing struck out six and retired 14 straight batters over one stretch, raising his record to 6-3.

Twins Angels

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Allison squeezed home Ted Uhlaender in the 10th inning and lifted the Minnesota Twins to a 6-7 victory over the California Angels yesterday.

Rich Rollins opened the inning with a single off loser Minnie Rojas and pinch runner Uhlaender reached third on a walk and a force out.

California sent the game into overtime with four runs in the seventh inning on solo home runs by Bob Rogers and pinch hitter John Werhas and a two-run single by Jim Fregosi, that chased Twins' starter Jim Merritt, who had two straight shutouts entering the game.

Minnesota took a 7-3 lead on Harmon Killebrew's 12th homer, estimated at 500 feet, a three-run blast by Zoilo Versalles and sacrifice flies by Tony Oliva and Rod Carew and a run-scoring hit by Oliva.

California's first three runs came on Rick Reichardt's two-run homer in the second inning and hits by Jose Cardenal and Fregosi and an error by Killebrew in the third.

Athletics-Chi Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Jim Nash climaxed a four-run fourth inning with a decisive run-scoring single that brought the Kansas City A's a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the nightcap of a doubleheader yesterday.

Tommy John hurtled his first shutout of the season, a five-inning, as the White Sox won the opener 2-0 on Ken Berry's two-run single.

Ramon Webster hit his second homer in the first inning of the second game and Jim Gosger started the fourth inning assault against Chicago's John Buzhardt with a triple.

Joe Nosssek later slammed a two-run double and Ken Suarez doubled home another run before Nash connected for a 5-1 lead.

The White Sox got an unearned run in the fourth and Tommie Agee smashed a two-run homer in the seventh. Nash lasted until the eighth before Tony Pierce relieved with one out and one out finished up.

Berry's hit came in the fourth inning before 35,000, the largest home crowd of the season. Ed Stroud, recalled from Indianapolis on Saturday, ignited the rally with a triple to right center field and then loser Jim "Catfish" Hunter hit Agee with a pitch and walked Tom McCraw.

John struck out seven and walked one as he won his fourth game against three losses.

Indians-Bo Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steve Hargan fashioned a five-inning shutout for the season and got home run support from Leon Wagner yesterday in pitching Cleveland to a 3-0 victory over Boston.

Wagner, leading off in the fourth inning, cracked his eighth homer of the year into the right field seats off Red Sox starter and loser Lee Stange.

Chuck Hinton singled in a run in the fifth and Fred Whitfield singled in another in the eighth. Hinton's hit scored Larry Brown, who had walked and moved up on Hargan's sacrifice.

Whitfield drove his run across after a walk, a force and an infield out.

Hargan, 7-4, was in serious trouble only in the fifth, when a bases-loaded double play ended the inning.

Rico Petrocelli walked and Joe Foy singled. After Mike Ryan fouled out, all runners were safe when Stange sacrificed.

Reggie Smith then hit into the doubleplay.

Orioles-Senators

BALTIMORE (AP) — Andy Etchebarren walloped a two-run homer in the 19th inning, lifting the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-5 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday in the longest game in the majors this season.

Brooks Robinson led off the 19th with a single and Etchebarren, after trying twice to bunt, broke up the five-hour, 18-minute marathon with a drive into the left field bleachers off reliever Bob Priddy.

Stu Miller, the sixth Baltimore pitcher, was the winner in the longest game in Orioles history.

The Orioles rapped out 13 hits in the first six innings, but Dave Baldwin, Bob Humphreys, Joe Coleman and Priddy held them to just one more until the 19th.

Meanwhile, Wally Bunker, Eddie Watt, Eddie Fisher and Miller blanked the Senators after the third.

The Orioles, who squandered a 4-0 lead, rallied to tie the score 5-5 in the seventh. Russ Snyder doubled and scored on Curt Blefary's third single.

Baltimore knocked out Washington starter Phil Ortega with a four-run rally in the second.

Dave Johnson doubled in two runs and scored on a single by pitcher Steve Barber. The final run scored on a throwing error by catcher Paul Casanova.

Washington came right back for five runs in the third. Ken McMullen singled for two runs, another scored on an infield out and a single by Frank Howard tied it 5-5. Casanova knocked in the go-ahead run with a single.

Giants-Mets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Shutout pitching by Tom Seaver and Joe Gibbon and Mike McCormick plus three-run homers by Tito Fuentes, Willie McCovey and Ollie Brown paced the San Francisco Giants to a 7-0, 5-0 doubleheader sweep over the New York Mets yesterday.

Fuentes and McCormick connected in the opener while Gibbon blanked the Mets on four hits in his first start of the season.

McCormick, 4-2, was aided by four double plays in the nightcap. Brown socked his homer off loser Chuck Estrada in the sixth inning.

The Giants had taken a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a run-scoring single by Tom Haller and a ground out by Brown, who had four runs batted in.

The Giants staked Gibbon to a 4-0 lead in the second inning of the opener, with Fuentes' second homer of the season capping the rally. McCormick drilled a 450-foot homer, his eighth, following singles by Haller and Willie Mays in the fifth.

The sweep gave the Giants 18 victories in their last 24 games. The Mets have dropped nine of their last 10 starts.

Cardinals-Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lou Brock homered in the first inning and lashed a tie breaking single in the eighth, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs yesterday.

Brook's two-out single off reliever Bill Hands in the eighth scored Dave Ricketts, who had beat out an infield hit and taken second on Dal Maxvill's single.

Right-hander Dick Hughes, who limited the Cubs to three hits, protected the one-run edge in the ninth and gained his third victory in five decisions.

Brook led off the Cards' first against Chicago starter Rich Nye with his 13th homer.

The Cubs struck back for two runs in the fourth and Fred Whitfield singled in another in the eighth. Hinton's hit scored Larry Brown, who had walked and moved up on Hargan's sacrifice.

runs in the fourth on a pair of walks and singles by Ernie Banks and Lee Thomas.

After Curt Flood's single and a two-out double by Mike Shannon in the Cards' fourth tied it at 2-2, Chicago moved in front in the fifth when Flood dropped Nye's fly ball for a two-base error and the pitcher moved around on a sacrifice bunt and Glenn Beckert's sacrifice fly.

St. Louis tied the game 3-3 in the sixth on singles by Julian Javier and Flood, and a sacrifice fly by Orlando Cepeda.

Flood's error ended his string of 227 consecutive games without a misplay.

Reds-Braves

CINCINNATI (AP) — Leo Cardenas' two-run homer capped a three-run rally in the fourth inning and the Cincinnati Reds hung on for a 5-4 victory over Atlanta yesterday, extending their winning streak to four games.

The Braves battled back from a 5-0 deficit with the help of Hank Aaron's 15th home run. They chased starter Jim Maloney in the eighth, but Bob Lee, the Reds, newly-acquired reliever, preserved Maloney's fifth victory in seven decisions.

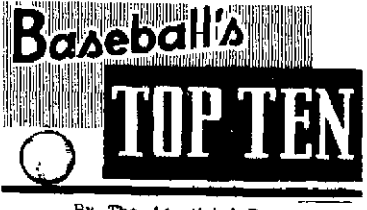

Cincinnati scored twice in the third inning on Cardenas' double, Floyd Robinson's single, an error by Felipe Alou and Pete Rose's single.

In the fourth, Tony Perez led off with a double and scored on John Edwards' single. Cardenas followed with his second homer of the season.

The Braves got back one run in the fifth on Denis Menke's double and a single by Woody Woodward. They added two in the sixth on Joe Torre's third single, Rico Carter's double and a sacrifice fly by Clete Boyer.

Aaron's bases-empty homer came in the seventh after Mack Jones bounced into a double play. Maloney left in the eighth after Rico Carter led off with a single.

Lee came on and checked the Braves the rest of the way.

Gary Bell

Tribe Swaps Gary Bell To Red Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded pitcher Gary Bell to the Boston Red Sox yesterday for outfielder Don Demeter and first baseman Tony Horton.

Bell is a 30-year-old right-hander who is in his 10th major league season, all with the Indians.

The Indians will be the fifth major league team for Demeter, who is an 11-year veteran.

He previously was with the Los Angeles Dodgers, Philadelphia and Detroit.

Horton, 22, has had three previous trials with the Red Sox but hasn't been able to crack the Boston lineup.

Commenting on the trade, General Manager Gabe Paul of the Indians said Cleveland could "afford to give up a pitcher to get something that will help us now and in the future. Horton has long distance power, and Demeter is a solid ballplayer."

Paul said Horton's talents would be better used in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium than in Boston's Fenway Park because "he hits to left center and right center."

Bell has a 1-5 record this year with a 3.71 earned run average in nine games. His best season came in 1959 his second in the majors, when he won 16 and lost 11.

Demeter, in 20 games, is hitting .286 with one homer and four runs batted in while Horton has a .308 average in 21 games.

Demeter, who will be 32 June 25, batted .307, hit 29 homers and drove in 107 runs for the Phillies in 1962.

Jones Honored As Top Mentor

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Dr. Ralph Waldo Emerson Jones of Grambling College, La., was named baseball coach of the year in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics yesterday.

Jones has been president of Grambling and its baseball coach for 42 years.

The award was presented to Jones as the NAIA prepared to open its five-day baseball tournament today.

Jones has brought his team to the national tournament three times. In 1963 and 1964, Grambling finished in second place. This year the Tigers go into the tournament with one of the best records in the nation, 35-1.

WITH DR. FAGER FOR THREE-YEAR-OLD OF YEAR HONORS

Damascus Belmont Win Sets Up Showdown

By ORLO ROBERTSON
SP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is going to take a showdown between Damascus, convincing winner of the Preakness and Belmont Stakes for two-thirds of the triple crown, and Dr. Fager, with a record marred only by disqualification from first place in the recent Jersey Derby, to determine the 3-year-old thoroughbred champion.

Just when that will be is the question. Dr. Fager, from W. L. McKnight's Tartan Stable, is expected to make his next start in either the $100,000 classic at Arlington Park June 24 or the $50,000-added Saranac at Aqueduct July 1. Both races are at one mile.

Shortly after Damascus beat the ill-fated Cool Reception by 2 1/2 lengths in last Saturday's $148,700 Belmont Stakes with lightly regarded Gentleman James third and Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion a struggling fourth, trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. said he would consult with owner Mrs. Edith Bancroft before determining Damascus' future races.

Damascus, who earned $104,950 to run his bank account for the year to $365,410, and Dr. Fager have met once. That was in the one-mile of the Gotham at Aqueduct April 15. Dr. Fager prevailed by one-half length, but jockey Bill Shoemaker insisted it was his ride and not the horse that caused the defeat.

"If I had ridden him different in the Gotham and if he had not been so nervous in the Kentucky Derby, I firmly believe Damascus would be seven for seven this year," said Shoemaker shortly after dismounting from the son of Sword Dancer last Saturday. Damascus finished third in the Kentucky Derby.

Shoemaker, posting his fourth

Belmont victory, sent Damascus over the 1 1/2 miles in 2:28 4/5 after Prinkipo, who finished last, and Canadian-owned Cool Reception had carried the field through a 23 2-5-second first quarter, 47 half-mile, 1:12 2-5 six furlong, 1:37 3-5 mile and 2:02 3-5 for 1 1/4 miles.

Damascus, fifth or sixth but never too far back, circled the leaders coming around the final bend and caught the front-running Cool Reception, with John-

Atlanta Chiefs Gain 4-4 Tie In Soccer Loop

ATLANTA (AP) — Player-coach Phil Woosnam scored on a penalty kick with less than four minutes left to play yesterday to give the Atlanta Chiefs a 4-4 tie with the Chicago Spurs in a National Professional Soccer League game.

Woosnam's kick, his second score of the game, touched off an argument between Chicago players and referee Ken Stokes, who was knocked to the ground by goal keeper Manuel Camacho. Camacho was banned from the field.

Atlanta scored first on a kick by Brian Bedford but the Spurs came back with a first-half goal by Willie Roy, the league's leading scorer.

Ron Newman scored for Atlanta early in the second half and Woosnam's first goal sent the Chiefs in front, 3-1. Chicago came back with goals by Wolfgang Glock and Luigi DeRobertis to tie the count and went ahead 4-3 on a boot by Waldemar Kaszubski.

A crowd of 3,608 watched the contest.

ny Sellers up, just one-eighth of a mile from the finish line.

As the favorite of the crowd of 52,120, Damascus paid $3,60 for a $2 win ticket. The Belmont winner was out of Aqueduct by 5:30 a.m. yesterday and en route to his temporary quarters at Delaware Park.

Cool Reception, Canadian 2-year-old champion of 1966 who had by-passed the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, broke the cannon bone in his right leg in the last one-sixteenth and finished on pure guts in the words of his rider. The cannon bone is the big bone between a horse's knee and ankle.

The leg was X rayed and placed in a cast Saturday night and later will be operated on and a pin inserted to help the fractured bone to knit. He'll remain at Aqueduct for some time.

The racing days of the Son of Nearctic, who cost $40,000 as a yearling, are over but he'll be saved for breeding. He was a gift to Mrs. William J. Seitz and Mrs. Vincent Reid from their father, Larkin Maloney, last summer.

Although Proud Clarion weakened in the final eighth after moving up to second, owner John Galbreath and trainer

Lloyd Gentry still have hopes that the 3-year-old champion of the year will come from the Darby Dan farm.

They always have considered Proud Clarion a member of the second string with the stable's main hopes resting on Cup Race, who didn't run as a 2-year-old, and then easily won his first two races this year before being sidelined by a leg injury.

He has been working sensationally and is expected to make his next start early in June at Aqueduct with Arlington Park's rich stakes as his chief objectives.

RESUMES COMEBACK

Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson takes another step back to the top Friday when he meets young Jerry Quarry in a 10-rounder at Los Angeles. Patterson is currently ranked fourth and Quarry tenth. The winner of the bout could assure himself a good seed in the upcoming elimination tourney to decide the new champion.

Patterson Fighting Quarry Friday Nite

By MURRAY ROSE
AP Sports Writer

Floyd Patterson, the two-time heavyweight champion, takes on 21-year-old Jerry Quarry of Bellflower, Calif., next Friday night at Los Angeles in what could be the start of an elimination tournament.

The 32-year-old Patterson is ranked fourth and Quarry 10th in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight list.

Mrs. Aileen Eaton, the lady fight promoter, is putting the 10-round on in the 90,000-seat Memorial Coliseum. She's aiming for a crowd of 30,000.

The fight will not be telecast. Quarry, a short-armed, 6-foot, 190-pounder, has a 23-1 record with three draws. His only loss was to fading Eddie Machen, on a 10-round decision last Oct. 30. Since then the crew-cropped blond has won six straight, including three victories this year. He knocked out Al Jones in five, outpointed England's Brian London, another slipping veteran, and knocked out comeback hopeful Alex Mitell in three on April 27.

Patterson, a 6-foot, 197-pounder, has won three straight since he was humiliated in 12 rounds by Clay on Nov. 22, 1965. In 1966, he knocked out Henry Cooper in the fourth round at London and this year he knocked out Willie Johnson in three and Bill McMurray in the first round. The last fight was on March 30.

Patterson's record is 46-5, including 35 knockouts. He has been stopped four times.

Another heavyweight contender, ninth-ranked Lewis Martin of Philadelphia, meets veteran Billy Daniels of New York at Toledo, Ohio, Monday night.

Dave Zygiewicz, rugged, unbeaten Texas heavyweight champion, meets Everett Copeland of New York at Houston, Tex., tomorrow night.

The week's bouts include:
Monday
At Toledo, Ohio, Lewis Martin, Philadelphia, vs. Billy Daniels, New York, heavies, 10.

Use them together, and you'll make calling easier for yourself, more accurate. For example, the Pink Pages section of your telephone directory tells you how to get the right area code . . . everything you need to know about dialing local and long distance calls.

The White Pages of your book, of course, contain an up-to-date record of area telephone listings. And if you underline numbers the first time you look them up, you'll find them faster next time. Also, transfer frequently called numbers to your Personal Directory—it saves time and provides a ready reference.

We want you to get the most out of your telephone service. One very good way is to remember: the telephone book is the first place to look . . . for numbers and information.

Warren County is ranked 41st of the 67 counties in the volume of alcoholic beverages sold with 0.274 percent of total sales in Pennsylvania coming from Warren County stores. Mau Maus Return Perplexing

NAIROBI Kenya (AP) — Two bedraggled, middle-aged Mau Mau fighters, clad in antelope-skin cloaks, monkey-skin mufflers and caps, related in a Kenya police cell yesterday how they emerged from the wilds of Mt. Kenya forest last week after living in hiding for about 14 years—unaware that Kenya had won independence. Police are holding them in custody at Kerogoya, on the slopes of Mt. Kenya, for interrogation. The bewildered pair are "Captain" Kimotho Ngenya, who discovered that he now is a grandfather, and "Officer" Kamina Guthuthwa. They claim they lost contact with the outside world years ago and survived by hunting and trapping wild animals, raiding beehives and making fires by rubbing sticks.

They said they finally surrendered to Kerogoya police after an old man who found them in the forest brought them newspapers to show that Jomo Kenyatta is now president of independent Kenya. They were astonished to discover that the antiwhite Mau Mau campaign, which they had joined in its early days in 1953, had been over more than a decade.

And they were amazed to learn that their first Mau Mau commander "General China," is now Mr. Waruhitu Itote, deputy director of the Kenya National Youth Service.

They also asked about an old comrade, "General Kassam Njogu"—and heard he is a progressive farmer in one of the many settlement schemes launched for Africans.

"On the occasions we ventured to the edge of the forest we were impressed by the big improvements in housing and suchlike, but assumed the British colonialists were still entrenched," said Ngenya, "so we decided to stay on in the forest and hide ourselves."

"The old man who brought us newspapers a little while ago was the first other human being we had seen in years. The two men — their hunting knives, axes and spears surrendered to police—are appealing to the government to allow them to return to normal life."

An Egyptian official said, "Not one single Egyptian soldier has been called from the Yemen over the past three months."

MAIN CAMPUS SUMMER SESSION

Edinboro Registration Set Today

Registration for the summer session at Edinboro State College will be held today at Normal Hall.

Classes for the morning will start at 8 a.m. tomorrow with evening classes scheduled for 6 p.m. The three-week term will end June 23.

From the number of requests already filed in the office of Mr. Ralph Berlin, director of the summer session, Edinboro will have the largest summer enrollment in the history of the college. Approximately 1,000 undergraduate students will be working off credits toward degrees. Graduate enrollment totals around 400 working toward advanced degrees, according to Dr. Jack Williams, director of the graduate program.

Students who have not pre-registered and wish to take work for the first time at Edinboro should bring with them an official transcript from an accredited college, or an official document indicating graduation from a college or university, a certificate valid for teaching in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or an official letter from the dean of the college where the student has matriculated or has been accepted for entry, approving the courses to be taken at Edinboro State College.

Students interested in the regular and post-session should register in advance to assure enrollment in class. Work is being offered in all fields at the undergraduate level this summer. Registration for the regular six-week session is Monday, June 26, with classes beginning the following day.

Termination date is August 4. Registration for post-session is August 7, with classes ending August 25. Commencement will be held August 26.

For the first time, in order to justify the curriculum increase, there will be a fourth period during the regular session. Classes will begin at 7:50 and end at 2:40 p.m. There will be no evening classes during regular and post-sessions.

Also, for the first time, during regular session only, Edinboro's two off-campus will hold summer sessions. Interested students should contact William Herrmann at Shenango and Frank Johnson at Warren.

Courses leading to master of education, bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees are being offered.

Fees for teacher education are $12.50 a semester hour; liberal arts, $15; out-of-state students' and graduate work, $20. A special art fee of $3 is charged for the three-week sessions and $6 for the regular session. An activity fee of $2.50 is required for the three-week sessions and $5 for the six weeks. Students lacking an ID card must purchase one for $2.

Campus housing is available for men, women and married couples without children. All students residing in college housing are required to pay board fees. Other students may eat in the college dining room, if they desire.

Shapp Says Consumer Is 'Soaked'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Milton J. Shapp has accused Gov. Shafer of a "public relations maneuver" that will "soak the consumer" in the governor's $266.6 million tax program.

Shapp, unsuccessful Democratic candidate against Shafer in last November's gubernatorial election and chairman of the Democratic Study Committee, a self-styled political watchdog group, made the comment in a statement yesterday.

On Thursday Shafer proposed $121.6 million in increased business taxes and $145 million additional in taxes on individuals. Shapp said that "while the governor has talked nobly about a fair balance between consumer and business taxes, the searchlight shows that the consumer proportion will rise slightly, while industry's portion shrinks in the same measure."

"Governor Shafer sought to hide his maneuvering behind a bipartisan tax commission which he personally appointed," Shapp said.

"He responded to that tax commission by tossing its recommendations into the waste basket. His play was entirely a public relations maneuver. He played political football with his own tax commission, Republicans and Democrats," Shapp said.

Governor at Laurel

Governor Shafer will lead the Grand Parade on June 17 of the Pennsylvania State Laurel Festival in Wellsboro. Also leading the parade will be a contingent of the First Army Band from the nation's capital. Sixty-four queens from throughout the state will vie for the honor of Pennsylvania Laurel Queen. The celebration starts June 16 and lasts through June 18. The Laurel is the state flower.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

Congratulations. You now work six minutes more each day for the government.

According to statistics just released, the average American (a myth created by statisticians) now devotes two hours and 25 minutes each day to meet his federal, state, and local taxes. The Tax Foundation says business has never been better.

Now if you're a clock-watcher, you can compare this to one hour and 26 minutes for housing, food and tobacco take up one hour and 14 minutes. Transportation is an investment of 40 minutes, while clothing takes 30 minutes and recreation takes 19 minutes. Medical expenses amount to 21 minutes each day. All other expenses take up one hour and six minutes.

I personally wish the Tax Foundation had not bothered to make such a thing public. The obvious reaction is to wonder just exactly what two hours and 25 minutes go toward paying the taxes. Is part of it the time spent sharpening pencils, waving to friends, listening on the telephone to immaterial conversation? Is part of it the coffee break, or worse, five minutes spent day-dreaming?

You can readily see the quandary this produces. If you are the type that supports federal programs, you certainly won't settle for the government getting the short end of your time. On the other hand, if you disagree with national policies and waste of tax dollars, you'll find yourself goofing off for two hours and 25 minutes each day.

In the first instance, you're liable to become a nervous wreck, without the few moments of relaxation that everyone needs. In the second case, you're liable to be fined and find yourself on relief.

And that would put you in a real fix. What two hours and 25 minutes would you owe the government then?

Snake Hunters Bag 3 Rattlers

Richard Alabaugh, right, 31 S. South Street and his brother-in-law, Duke Gheres, RD 1, Clarendon were searching for rattlesnakes this morning in Scandia and came back with three big ones. "We do it for sport," Alabaugh said. The three snakes, the longest of which was about 48 inches, had seven to ten rattles. Alabaugh held the severed head of the longest snake for a close-up shot, pictured left. "You don't get this close when they're alive," he said. (Photos by Knight)

Building Unions Lift Picket Lines

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Striking building trades unions say they'll lift picket lines, clearing the way for non-striking craftsmen to go back to work today on millions of dollars worth of construction projects in Western Pennsylvania and parts of Ohio and West Virginia.

Fred G. Gualtieri, business manager of Local 154 of the Boilermakers Union, announced the removal of pickets Saturday after a meeting with Frank DeLuca, president of the State Building Trades Council.

Gualtieri said other unions have agreed to go along with the no-picketing policy. But he warned, "We've agreed not to picket only if someone doesn't do our work."

Six unions struck last week after failing to reach agreement on new contracts with building contractor associations.

On strike, in addition to boilermakers, are operating engineers, painters, bricklayers and carpenters, all with union headquarters in Pittsburgh, and plumbers and steamfitters in Beaver County.

The U.S. Steel Corp. halted all construction work at its plants Friday and criticized the unions. The big steel maker said building tradesmen make a habit of striking contractors for higher pay and going to work on U.S. Steel projects while still on strike. The company said it would no longer be an "economic crutch" for striking tradesmen.

Commenting on this, DeLuca said, "We are led to believe that the MBA (Master Builders Association) had U.S. Steel shut down its construction projects to more or less lock us out—to put pressure on us because our people won't be working."

DeLuca said that in lifting pickets the Boilermakers "have relinquished the only weapon left for organized labor in order to show good faith to all parties concerned."

"We hope this move by the Boilermakers," he said, "will help speed a fair and equitable settlement for all concerned."

Scandia Begins Building Fire Hall

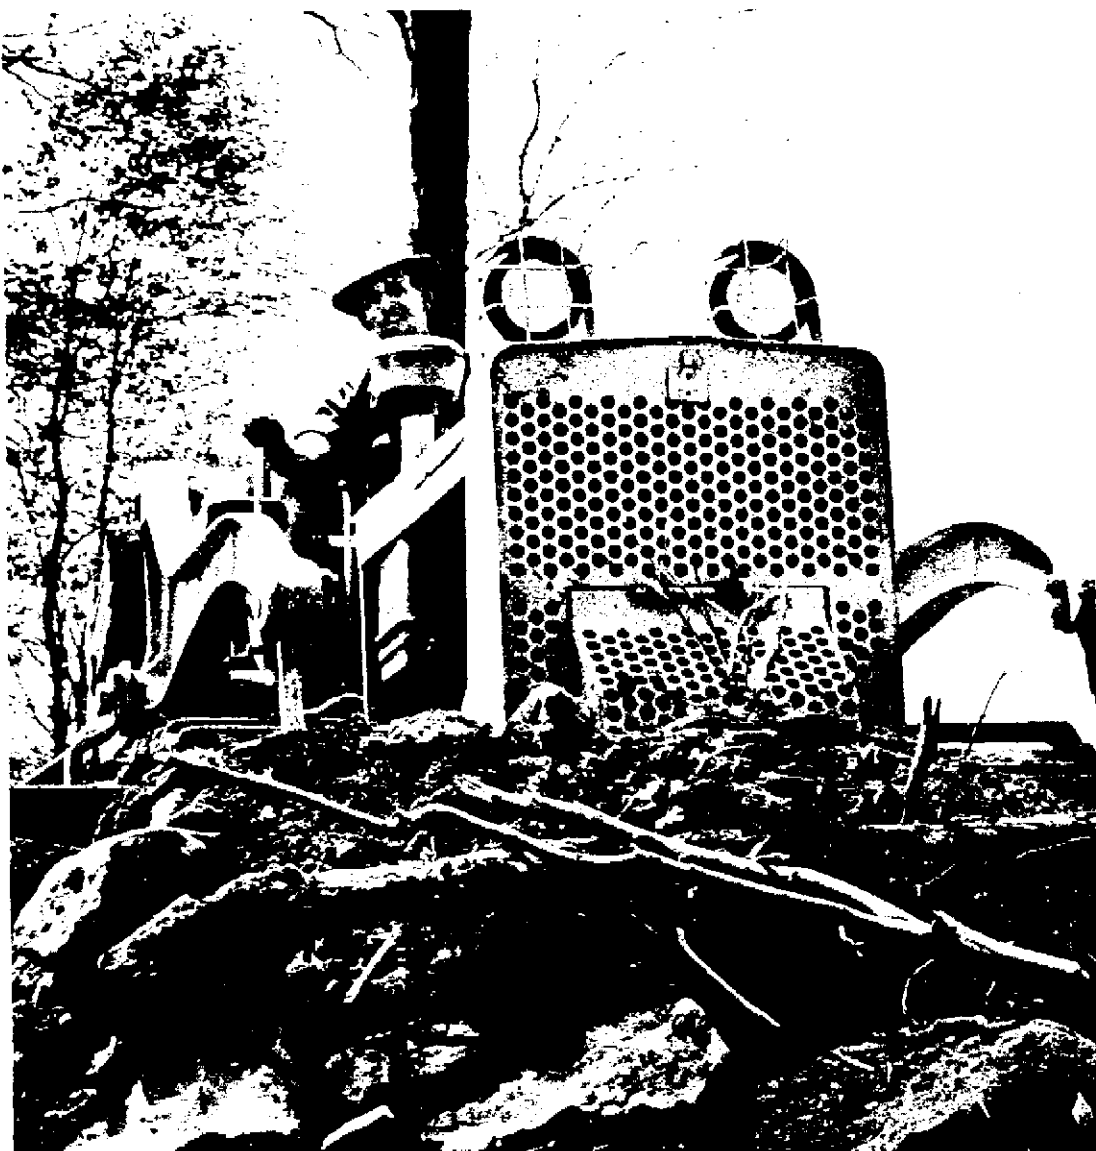

A work party made up of volunteer firemen, boy scouts and interested residents began to clear the land Saturday morning for the planned Scandia Fire Hall.

The long-needed facility will be located on two acres of land donated by Tim Birt, RD 1, Russell. The Scandia Volunteer Fire Department hopes to build a 60' x 100' building to house their 1965 fire engine and their 1967 emergency truck according to Duane Kittner, fire chief, and the remaining portion of the building would be used as a community center, for residents to hold community meetings, dances, dinners and any other civic activities, he said.

The township hopes to acquire a grant from the government under the Economic Opportunity Program, to help finance the structure, Kittner noted. Additional funds are being raised by the volunteer firemen through raffles, pancake suppers and donation, he said.

Kittner emphasized that the increasing population in the township has created a "real need" for a community center. "There is no question about the department needing a place to house its fire fighting equipment," he added.

Erie VA Hospital 'Adequate'

More than nine out of 10 veteran-patients who participated in a Congressional poll gave favorable answers when asked about the service and care they received at the Erie Veterans Administration hospital, the hospital said in a news release.

The Erie VA Hospital scored 97.7 per cent in the second annual survey directed by Rep. Olin E. Teague D-Texas, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, who told Congress:

"The committee is gratified to learn through these two surveys, that almost 98 per cent of the veterans indicated that in general they received good hospital care."

Dr. L. C. Davis, director of the Erie VA Hospital, added: "We are pleased that the patients feel that way about the care they received at our hospital, but there is always room for improvement and we will continue to work for betterment. We appreciate the work that went into the survey and we will make the best use of the results to guide us in our task of giving the veteran-patient the best care possible."

Congressional and VA officials pointed out that the poll was not undertaken as a popularity contest to determine how much the veterans liked the treatment they received, but rather to see what fault the patients had found so steps could be taken to improve the care and service.

Man Killed in Fight Over Bumper Jack

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—State troopers said a man killed another man with a tire iron early yesterday during a fight over a bumper jack near Dunbar. Police said a tire iron wielded by Arthur Shuttler, 28, of Lemont Furnace, pierced the left chest and heart of Wendell T. Baker, 23, of Lemont Wood Acres, which is on the outskirts of Uniontown.

Deputy Coroner F. Todd Burhans of Dunbar pronounced Baker dead at the scene near the Mount Independence School. Shuttler was treated at Uniontown Hospital for minor injuries. Police then charged him with murder, and he was jailed after arraignment.

MRS. PAUL ARNOLD of 14 Madison avenue has just returned from four days at Canada's Expo 67. Mrs. Arnold full of the pleasure of her visit has a few words of advice regarding difficulties in making reservations which may be encountered. She says it is a very good idea in such a situation to get on the phone and call the different hotels in the area because there are frequently last minute cancellations—and that means excellent accommodations for the one with such initiative. Mrs. Arnold met her sister, Mrs. M. Nichols, in Toronto and the two proceeded from there by train which took them into the center of Montreal. They stayed at the YWCA, which has 144 rooms, and she recommended their food; breakfast is served from 7:30 on (for the general public was my understanding) and dinner is served cafeteria style (excepting Sunday nights). In fact Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Nichols must have been very satisfied with the Y's cuisine because they had the kitchen staff make sandwiches for them to sort of "lunch on the go" as they explored Expo 67.—One more bit of wisdom, Mrs. Arnold also suggests low heeled shoes for the miles of walking; foot comfort or lack of it can make the difference as to whether or not you are able to enjoy the sights of the fabulous international fair. She mentioned too, going to Mt. Royal and visiting the Notre Dame Church Museum. The remainder of their week's vacation was spent in St. Catharines, Ontario.

THE CHARLES ONGLEYS greeted one hundred and fifty people in Fellowship Hall of the Grand Valley church last Sunday on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary. Decorations were carried out in keeping with the festive occasion and the center of interest was the beautiful three tier anniversary cake. Hosts for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Ongley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ongley; assisting them were Mrs. Charlotte Holcomb and the Misses Lorraine, Karen and Kathy Ongley, granddaughters of the honored pair, who were married on June 1st, 1917 in the Methodist parsonage, Mayville, N.Y., by the Rev. F. Dair, pastor. Mr. Ongley was the barber in Grand Valley for forty-six years, and served as its Postmaster for twenty-four years until his retirement. All of their married life has been spent in Grand Valley.

MINIATURES: WHS Class of '47 meets for a workbee tonight at the home of Sophia Spiridon Prodromou, 12 Redwood street. All classmates are invited. Reservations for the reunion at Jackson Valley Country Club, set for July 22nd, are still being accepted.

CD of A. Warren, meets this Wednesday 8 p.m. in Holy Redeemer Church social hall. There will be installation of officers. Also, bring good, clean, used clothing for the missions, also, soap, toothpaste, etcetera. Mrs. John Ponsoll has charge of this project.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I suppose I should be happy my husband is not a slob, but I'm beginning to think the other extreme is just as bad. Here is a sample of what goes on in our house before we leave for an evening, and it is driving me crazy. He says, "Do I look O.K.?" I say, "Yes, you look fine, dear." He says, "Is this tie right with this shirt?" I say, "Honey, your tie is perfect." He says, "Are you sure my pants aren't too long?" I say, "No, dear, your pants are just right." He says, "Did I get a good haircut this time or did the barber take too much off over the ears?" I say, "Your haircut is beautiful, dear."

Just as we get out the door he'll say, "Is this jacket right with these trousers or should I go back and put on my herringbone?" I say, "Your jacket is perfect, dear." When we get in the car he says, "Do you think I should have put on my brown shoes?" I say, "These shoes are fine, dear."

Then when I ask, "How do you think I look tonight?" he answers, "Why must you always fish for compliments? I'm getting awfully tired building you up."

What can I do with a guy like this?—M. L.

DEAR M. L.: Nothing, so don't try. A man who is so unsure of himself is not going to give his wife much bolstering. So just continue to prop him up and feed his vanity because he sure does need it, Lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you do not accomplish another thing in your life, the way you have put the spotlight on mental illness deserves a medal.

I was deeply moved by the letter from the young woman whose mother-in-law accused her of using her "nerves" as an excuse to avoid responsibility. I'm an older woman who must work to support myself. I am the victim of "nerves" or mental illness—or I am just plain nuts, whatever anybody wants to call it. My children think I am faking and feeling sorry for myself. They are tired of me, but they are not half as tired as I am—of myself. At times I wish I could just die and get out of their way, but I keep hoping tomorrow will be better.

Mental illness is impossible to describe to a person who has good mental health. It's like trying to describe hell. It's unreal. It's a million miles from nowhere. It has no beginning and no end.

Please tell your readers who can live reasonably normal lives, free of horrible depressions and agonizing fears, that they should thank God for every day. They are truly blessed. —STILL FIGHTING

DEAR FIGHTING: I have had dozens of letters today from people who share your problem. Your letter said it best, however. Chin up, and thank you for writing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MEANT WELL: If a vicious remark like that is your idea of "meaning well," what's your idea of a stab in the back? You sound like a woman who has an instinct for the jugular. You owe her an apology and if she accepts it consider yourself lucky.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Vows Exchanged At Nuptial Mass In Holy Redeemer

Martha Anne Nasky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Nasky of 105 Center street, on Tuesday, May 30, became the bride of Paul Timothy Murray. The 11 a.m. Nuptial Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Joseph Seyboldt, pastor, in Holy Redeemer Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Murray of Buffalo, New York.

Miss Mary Magnus was at the organ, and altar decorations included lighted tapers in candelabra, two vases of white gladioli, white carnations, and white pompons. Before the final prayers of the Mass, the bride placed a bouquet of Sonora sweetheart roses with marguerites, ivy and baby's breath at the altar of the Blessed Mother.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of peau de soie with a natural waistline and molded bodice, portrait neckline, elbow length sleeves. The long slim skirt had appliques of pearl studded Alencon lace, which were also used to accent the neckline and edged the sleeves. Large sprays of the lace highlighted the graceful sweep of the chapel train. Upon her head was a dainty double crown of seed pearls and aurora borealis from which depended a bouffant veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a spray of white sweetheart roses with white carnations, ivy and baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Mrs. G. M. Butterstein of Buffalo, N.Y., and the maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Jane Nasky of Warren. Both were gowned in long ensembles of maize with touches of white Venetian lace and had matching Dior headbows with butterfly veils. They carried Sonora sweetheart roses with marguerites, ivy and baby's breath. The best man was M. Robert Petrik of Buffalo, and ushers were H. Gregory Nasky Jr., brother of the bride of Pittsburgh, and George M. Butterstein of Buffalo.

The mother of the bride chose a two-piece beige tweed costume with matching accessories and a corsage of Sonora sweetheart roses. The mother of the groom was in a deep coral sheath and matching veil hat, and had a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The Godmother of the groom, Miss Rita Griffin, was remembered with a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

A reception followed at the Inn of the Three Flags with eighty-five guests in attendance. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, pompons and yellow daisies. Yellow tapers completed the centerpiece. Aide Miss Katherine Duda, a cousin of the bride, was favored with a corsage of Marguerite daisies.

For traveling to Tacoma, Washington, the new Mrs. Murray wore a coffee brown and white linen dress with matching coat and white accessories, and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Buffalo General Hospital School of Nursing and attended the University of Buffalo. She was in the employ of Dr. Edward Verville of Warren. The groom, a 1963 graduate of St. Bonaventure University, and a 1966 graduate of the School of Law at the State University of New York in Buffalo, is presently serving as a 2nd Lieutenant in the U.S.A.F. He was formerly associated with the New York Public Service Commission.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mr. and Mrs. John T. O'Mara, Grand Island, N.Y.; Miss Rita Griffin and Mrs. Joseph McCovey of Tonawanda, N.Y.; Mrs. G. M. Butterstein of Buffalo; Mrs. Harry G. Anderson and Mrs. Robert Ruhlman of Warren.

Household Hints

A teaspoon of lemon juice boiled with rice will make it whiter.

Don't throw away the cotton from pill and capsule bottles. It's just right for removing nail polish.

When making jam, rub the bottom of the kettle with butter to prevent the jam from sticking and burning.

Buttering the blades of kitchen scissors before snipping marshmallows prevents them from sticking.

Making frosting the no-cook creaming method? Warm your milk slightly and you'll have smoother, creamier icing.

Add a pinch of ginger to doughnut dough and it won't absorb so much fat while frying.

Add creamstyle corn (canned) to a thin white sauce and you'll have a nourishing soup for the family. Pass a peppermill at the table so the grownups can give their portion extra tang.

Snowy dessert: fill and frost a white or yellow layer cake with whipped cream and then sprinkle the cream with freshly grated coconut.

A New You by Emily Wilkens Much Ado About Makeup

There are more makeup varieties than the famous 57 of soup fame. The trick is to learn which products are compatible with your basic chemistry. It's try, try and try again until you hit on the perfect combination.

When buying a new product, don't choose the huge "economy" size or you may be stuck with it for years. And don't use new cosmetics for the first time when you're making-up for a special occasion. It's important to have a private dress rehearsal before you face an audience with a completely new "face."

Consider these elements in a basic makeup plan:

BASE IS THE BACKBONE . . . of any good makeup application. Choose one that harmonizes with your actual skin tone or the effect could be unbearably artificial. With liquid or cream, dab sparingly on your nose, cheeks and forehead, blending with your fingertips from your hairline to chin. Always blot with tissue to remove excess.

If you choose cake makeup, use it with a light hand. In this case, skip powder — it isn't necessary.

ROUTINES FOR ROUGE: Choose either cream or liquid. Dab a single dot on top of each cheek under the center of the eye and blend it into a crescent shape up and away from your nose, toward your temples. Use the end of your nose as a guide and never go below it. If you use powdered rouge or brush-on, smile first, then brush on lightly within the "smile zone."

POINTERS ON POWDER . . . it "sets" all the other makeup. Apply generously, let it rest a few moments, then brush off the excess. Use a clean cotton puff each time to prevent skin infections. Always brush powder out of eyebrows with a dampened eyebrow brush, first the wrong way, then into place.

EYE-CATCHING EYES: For special or date occasions, eye shadow gives added accent. Choose eye shadow sticks (simply blend in color with your fingertips) or cream or powder shadows (best applied with a tiny sponge or brush).

For eyeliner, hold your lid tautly for a smoother line and, with a fine brush, draw the line as close as possible to the base of the lash. Hold lid for a few seconds to set liquid or cake liner to avoid smearing. A few practice sessions will insure a steady hand.

Mascara is the finishing touch with eye makeup. The powder you applied will act as a base and make your lashes look twice as long. Cake or cream mascara is best applied with a heavy brush. Roll-on is perhaps the easiest form to work with. Always apply the mascara up and out and be sure to separate lashes afterwards with a clean lash brush.

LOVELIER LIPS . . . are the final step in a basic makeup. In order to get the most from lipstick apply it over powdered lips, let it set, then blot. Finish with lip gloss for added sheen. The key to remember is that makeup is art, not artifice. THE NEW YOU who learns to apply makeup deftly will look naturally lovely always.

MRS. KENNETH ALLAN FOSTER

Barbara E. Anderson Weds Kenneth Allan Foster

The Bethel Lutheran Church, Jamestown, N.Y., was the setting for the nuptial service which united in marriage Barbara Elaine Anderson and Kenneth Allan Foster on Saturday, June 3, at 2 p.m. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ralph O. Anderson of 141 Dunham avenue, Celeron, New York and the late Mr. Ralph O. Anderson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Foster of the Falconer-Kennedy road, Kennedy, New York.

The double ring wedding rites were read by the Rev. George R. Kroon, pastor, in the presence of two hundred and fifty wedding guests. Organist was Elmer Doebler and William Waite was the soloist. The altar was ornamented with candelabra, white mums and gladioli.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza over bridal tulle with a rounded neckline, cap sleeves and a front panel of re-embroidered Swiss appliques. A cluster of white roses secured her tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses and lily.

The matron of honor was Mrs. W. Bruce Eckstrom of West Milton, Ohio, sister of the bride, in a gown of maize crepe and satin and matching headpiece. She carried a nosegay of white carnations with yellow roses accented with matching ribbon. In mint green ensembles and matching headpieces were the bridesmaids, Mrs. R. Wayne Anderson, Miss Carole Barrett of Rochester, and Miss Joyce Ford. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations and yellow roses with ribbons to match their gowns. The flower girl, Mistress Brenda Ellison, a cousin of the bride, was in a long frock of yellow nylon and carried a basket of yellow and white flowers.

Barry Richard Anderson, twin brother of the bride, was the best man; ushers were W. Bruce Eckstrom of West Milton, Ohio, and James Buelow of Little Valley, N.Y., Roy Sandberg of Williamsboro, N.Y., both cousins of the groom.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of light green with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The mother of the groom was in a two-piece ensemble of pink with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The grandmother of the groom, Mrs. John Buelow, was remembered with a corsage of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the church parlors with the two hundred and fifty wedding guests attending. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. C. Richard Selberg, cousins of the bride; aides were Miss Carole Cross, Miss Annette Firth, Miss Patricia Taylor, Miss Helen Mattison, Miss Linda Guyer and Miss Janice Van Rensselaer.

For a wedding trip to the Finger Lakes region, the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of yellow with a cymbidium orchid corsage.

After September 1, the newlyweds will reside at 410 Church road, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Southwestern Central High School, and was employed as a secretary in the sales department of Royal Metal Corporation. The groom, a 1962 graduate of Falconer Central High School, is a 1964 graduate of Jamestown Community College, and a 1966 graduate of State University of New York College at Fredonia. He is presently attending Cranbrook Academy of Arts in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, where he is working towards his Master of Fine Arts degree.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, Mrs. Edith Worch, Miss Annette Firth; Mrs. Harold Sandberg and Miss Marge Brown; Mrs. Joann Selberg, Mrs. Carl Selberg, Mrs. Minnie Bateman and Mrs. Betty Cross and the bride's attendants. The rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the groom at their home.

Mrs. Hallie Holt Honored At Birthday Open House

Open house was held Sunday, May 28, at the Akeley Methodist Church, in recognition of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Hallie Holt, who greeted her guests dressed in pink with a pink rose corsage.

Ice cream and cake were served from a table decorated in pink and white. Eighteen pink roses, a gift from the Donald Holt children, graced the center of the table.

The affair was planned by Mrs. Holt's only daughter and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. William Granquist of Wexford, Pa. They were assisted by Mrs. Holt's five sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holt of Burgettstown, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Holt of Perry, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holt of Akeley, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holt of North Tonawanda, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holt of Solon, Ohio. The latter couple, being unable to attend, was represented by their oldest son Charles, Jr.

Mrs. Richard Holt and Mrs. Cecil Holt poured tea and coffee and Mrs. Donald Holt was at the punch bowl. Mrs. Hallie Holt cut the cake and Mrs. Howard Holt served the ice cream.

Mrs. Holt received many lovely cards and gifts from her friends and relatives who were present from Akron, Hubbard and Solon, Ohio, North Tonawanda, Perry, Ripley, Randolph, Conewango, Kennedy, Falconer and Frewsburg, New York, as well as Youngsville, Warren, Russell, and Akeley, Pa.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Holt was accompanied to church by her children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews. Her son, Cecil, had charge of the services. After church lunch was enjoyed at the Jackson Heights Restaurant.

WOTM Members Traveling To Mooseheart June 15th

At the recent meeting of Women of the Moose, chapter No. 693, it was announced that thirty-seven co-workers and members have made their reservations for the bus trip to Mooseheart, Illinois on June 15. The chartered bus will leave the local terminal at 6 a.m. on that date, and return to Warren on Sunday, June 18. The meeting was conducted by Senior Regent Yvonne Lee.

It was announced that thirty friendship members attended the Academy of Friendship banquet at the Jackson Valley Country Club where Friendship rings were presented to the two new members, Ida Wenzel and Joyce Bell; and prizes awarded to the following after a program of games: Erma Gustafson, Esther O'Dell, Mabel Mattson, and Vera Petrowski.

It was also announced that there will be a "white elephant sale" at the Academy of Friendship chapter night to be held on Wednesday, June 14, and all members were requested to donate items to be sold. Members are to contact the Friendship chairman, Hazel Jensen at 723-3381, for details on refreshments for the June 14 chapter night. The "white elephant sale" and refreshments will be in the first floor club-room after the meeting.

Before the conclusion of the WOTM meeting, hallooting on new candidates was held. The special award went to Gertrude Stites. Guests for the evening were Clara Morrison and Alvera Johnson, co-workers from the Jamestown, N. Y., chapter.

Heloise Hints

DEAR HELOISE:

When I wash out stockings and small articles in the sink, I always use one of our flexible plastic glasses as a plunger to help remove the soil.

Saves hands.

Mrs. Wham Scheer

DEAR FOLKS:

Just fill up the basin with hot sudsy water, and put the garments in. Then squish up and down with that plastic glass.

I found the plastic glass did a great job when the OPEN end was turned DOWN. By using the plastic glass, you won't boil your hands.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Plastic rainhats (that fold into a small package to carry in your purse) are so convenient, but the ties tear off so easily.

When a tie came off the other day, I cut the other tie and inserted grosgrain ribbon in the grommets where the ties are joined to the hat. I just slipped ribbon through the holes, turned the ends under about a half-inch and stitched them back to the ribbon.

Try it. You will have a rainhat that will do the job just as efficiently and comfortably.

And you also have a pretty, soft grosgrain bow under your chin!

Mrs. John Neville

DEAR HELOISE:

I discovered a marvelous substitute for cake coloring — flavored gelatin! I dissolved two teaspoons of strawberry gelatin in a bit of hot water one day when I ran out of cake coloring.

Lo and behold, it not only made an excellent pink-colored icing but a fine-flavored one as well!

C. Von Matulski

COLOR BLINDNESS

Q. Is color-blindness inherited? Can anything be done to prevent it getting worse?
A. Yes. Color-blindness is an inheritable trait. The condition remains stationary throughout life. There is no effective treatment for color-blindness.

DIABETIC FOODS

Q. Are diabetic foods harmful to a person not having diabetes? I prefer diabetic foods because they are not so sweet.
A. If by diabetic foods you mean dietetic foods, that is foods or beverages sweetened with artificial sweeteners and without sugar, they won't hurt you. Actually, there are no such things as diabetic foods because diabetics can eat whatever the rest of us eat, but in restricted amounts.

Girl Watchers Watch Fires

By STEVE MOORE
HELENA, Mont. (AP) — The forest fire watcher often is pictured as a weather-beaten, rough and rugged man, perched in a glass-enclosed cage atop a lonely mountain peak.

In Montana, the setting is the same but the subject is more likely to be 35-24-36.

"I just thought it would be fun work," says Mary Harker, 19, of Heron, Mont., "and at the time I needed money for school."

Miss Harker, who will seclude herself atop 6,166-foot Squaw Peak in Kaniksu National Forest this summer, said she looks forward to the quiet life of a lonely fire watcher.

"Last summer I took my French horn with me, and — oh, I know it sounds funny — I serenaded the elk."

Another invader of what once was a man's world is Suzanne Goodman, 19, of Butte. She spent last summer at the 9,800-foot Highland Lookout on Starlight Mountain in the Deer Lodge National Forest, and expects to do the same this summer.

Miss Goodman, a student of forestry at the University of Montana, said she did the work partly because she likes it.

Dorothy Taylor of Missoula may well be the dean of Montana's female forest watchers. Miss Taylor started fire watching during World War II when men weren't available. This summer, at the 5,200-foot Double Arrow Lookout in Lolo National Forest near Seeley Lake, she will spend her 18th summer in the business.

What do the male forest rangers have to say?

One ranger said women lookouts are just as effective as men in detection and more effective at housekeeping.

Another ranger said women, as a general rule, are more observant, maintain their interest in what can be a monotonous job, and are more meticulous in record keeping.

The post can be so busy that the solitude of night is welcome, Miss Taylor said. She said 875 visitors stopped by last year.

"I'm really more than a look-out," she said. "I'm also a public relations woman."

But Miss Goodman said she spent from early July through

Sept. 16 last year without a day's contact with civilization, "and then I had to walk out because of the early snows."

Miss Harker, who spent three months on Squaw Peak without a break, only had 50 visitors all summer. She had no electricity and used a wood stove for heat. But she said, "I'm ready for another year."

Overpopulated Pigeons

TOKYO (AP)—Pigeons as well as people present crowding problems in populous Tokyo. Park officials in the world's biggest city lament that the fast-multiplying birds are ruining flower beds. They plan to repeat a solution that worked pretty well three years ago—about 1,400 pigeons were caught and presented to other Japanese parks and zoos and, as a good-will gift, to Seoul, South Korea.
